ADMIRAL BYRD WAS IN WEAKENED STATE WHEN RESCUE CAME

Explorer, Overcome With Fumes From Stove in His Solitary Camp Near South Pole, Too
Proud to Reveal His Condition and Risk
Companions Bringing Him Aid

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, Aug. 14 (Via MacKay Radio-AP).—Admiral Richard E. Byrd was resting comfortably today at Bolling Advance Weather Base, and gave evidence of recovering his strength rapidly, members of the tractor party, which reached him, Friday, reported. Dr. Thomas C. Poulter, who led the tractor party, said it will be some time, however, before they can bring him back.

"We shall remain here," he said, "until Admiral Byrd feels able to travel. Our presence here and the fact that we have relieved him of the physical effort of daily detail incidental to his solitary confinement already have lifted a great weight off his shoulders. He is remarkably cheerful."

Communication with the advance base was no sooner restored yesterday, than Dr. Poulter ordered meteorological observers at Little America to make observations simultaneously with him. Most of the radio conversation since then has been devoted to scientific ends.

POISONED BY FUMES
Brief conversations confirmed that Admiral Byrd was poisoned by fumes from his kerosene stove last June and he lacked the strength to give proper attention to his food. His stomach was constantly upset and the odor of the fumes was so disturbing, together with his apprehensions that he might again be overcome, that he ran the stove as little as possible. The cold weakened him further. He was in his sleeping bag half the time.

DROUGHT GIVES PARTIAL RELIEF

But Wheat Glut Continues to Menace Prices, Conference
Is Told

LONDON, Aug. 14 (AP).—The International Wheat Conference spent its opening session today hearing a review of the present situation, which stressed the menace to prices from a 1,000,000,000-bushel glut.

The drought, delegates estimated, would cut normal production by 300,000,000 to 400,000,000 bushels, furnishing only partial relief.

The proposals for extension of the acreage reduction programme throughout the world was not reached, and remains to be taken up tomorrow.

REPORTS ON EXPORTS

Andrew Cairns, of Canada, secretary of the World Wheat Commission, reported that all members, except Argentina, exported less than their quotas under last year's agreement. Argentina exceeded its quota by 34,000,000 bushels.

Reductions in planted acreage also were reported for all the countries except Argentina, where it was estimated the decrease amounted to 5 to 10 per cent of the average, the basis of comparison.

The reductions in other countries were: Canada, 10%; United States, 12 per cent; Australia, over 15; Germany, 8; Italy, 4; France, 1 per cent.

DISAPPEARANCE IS MYSTERIOUS

Vancouver Man Missing When Car
Found at Pitt River—Went Out to Fish

NEW WESTMINSTER, Aug. 14 (CP).—Mystery shrouded the disappearance of Walter Eason, fifty-five-year-old Vancouver city employee, tonight, whose abandoned car was found 100 yards from the Pitt River bridge, eighteen miles east of here on the Loughheed highway.

Provincial Police found the car late Sunday afternoon. It was parked by the roadside and contained a pair of rubber wading boots and a fishing basket.

Occupants of a power boat and a rowboat, who were on the river most of the day, declared they had seen no sign of the missing man.

Eason left his home in Vancouver, where he lives with his two sons, Sunday afternoon, and did not take any food with him.

TROUBLE IN SAAR FEARED

Commission Asks League
for Foreign Police as Situation
Grows Serious

GENEVA, Aug. 14 (AP).—Conditions in the Saar Basin, the future of which will be decided by a plebiscite in January, call for the recruiting of 2,000 foreign police, the governing commission of the region advised the League of Nations today.

The commission asked the League to approve the addition to its police force, saying the situation has become so much worse that it is beyond control.

Recruiting of the additional officers in foreign countries which are members of the League and in which the German language is spoken was recommended.

BY POPULAR VOTE
The Saar, former German territory, will determine by popular vote whether it is to return to the Reich, become part of France, or remain under the League of Nations. The question of policing has been one of the issues.

The majority report called attention to the fact that 15,000 young men recruited in the Saar for police duty are being trained in Germany.

SALVORS SEEK VAULT IN BOW

Starting Attempt to Raise
Forepart of Islander Lost
During Salvaging

JUNEAU, Alaska, Aug. 14 (AP).—Salvors, seeking gold in the wrecked Alaskan ship Islander, today tackled a new problem—were the vessel's vaults in her bow when the bow dropped to the bottom of the deep as the hull was being hauled ashore? They'll raise the bow and see.

The salvors have admitted picking up only a small amount of gold from the main part of the barnacle-covered ship, after she was beached on Admiralty Island following Titanic labors.

IN DEEP WATER

Their new enterprise, raising of the bow, which was badly damaged when the ship struck, and then dropped off in a storm, will require at least thirty days, as it is 3,000 feet back from Admiralty Island in 100 feet of water.

The theory now is that the bow, if it does contain the vaults, may hold the golden secret of the Islander, which was conveying many Alaskan miners from the rich Klondike diggings back to the States.

Three Injured
In Explosion
At Ladysmith

LADYSMITH, Aug. 14. — Three men of the crew of the Ss. Griffone are in Ladysmith General Hospital, as the result of a steam pipe explosion in the engine-room of the ship late last night as she lay at the wharf where loading coal for Anzax.

The injured are D. Maitland, whose condition is the most serious of the three; George Coult, badly scalded on the arms and legs, and Albert Cameron, who sustained slight burns and severe shock.

The accident happened a few minutes before midnight, and an emergency call for aid was responded to by Dr. D. P. Hannington and an ambulance.

The injured men are reported to be making favorable progress.

They are all residents of Vancouver.

Scientist Fishes Successfully Half-Mile Down in Ocean

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Aug. 14 (AP).—A considerable number of black and red deep-sea fish with jaw-breaking technical names were brought back alive, today, by Dr. William Beebe, United States scientist, after a day of fishing half a mile below the surface eight miles off Nonsuch Island.

Dr. Beebe reported that no new specimen was pulled up in his deep-sea nets, but some were of types taken alive for the first time. The fish were put in ice water as soon as they were on board the scientist's boat in the hope they could be kept alive long enough for scientific examination, although it was said to be impossible for any of them to live more than twenty-four hours.

Hundreds of Men Fight Flames in East Washington

Blazing Forests Ground Planes, Which Cannot Fly in Smoke Pall—Lightning Starts Roaring
Furnace in Jackson Hole Country—
Many Fires in Idaho

SPOKANE, Aug. 14 (AP).—The rugged terrain of Teton Pass in the Jackson Hole country of Wyoming became a roaring furnace today, when a lightning-set blaze swept up the mountainous slope toward the Idaho line.

The fire moved rapidly and threatened to throw a curtain of flame across the pass, cutting off the main route leading from Victor, Idaho, into Jackson.

Two hundred men from Jackson Hole and from Idaho were fighting the fire, tonight. It was at first partially brought under control, but flames broke loose with renewed fury shortly afterwards.

No estimate has yet been made of the territory covered by the blaze.

IDAHO FIRES

Virtually 400 men were battling flames in the Selway and Clearwater forests of Idaho. Tension had lessened at forest headquarters as reports came in on progress against larger blazes. Smoke still was proving a handicap, but lines were being drawn tighter around Burns. Expected lightning storms failed to develop, last night.

Planes, grounded over the week-end by clouds of smoke which hid the terrain, were unable to help.

Japan Ready To Denounce Naval Treaty

LONDON, Aug. 14 (CP-Havas).—Demand for denunciation of the Washington Naval Treaty before December 31, 1934, was voiced by high Japanese naval officials, including Minister of the Navy Admiral Onomichi, yesterday, according to reports received today from Tokyo.

The demand was reportedly made when the naval minister, the commander of the Japanese fleet, Admiral Suetsugu, and Vice-Admiral Takahashi, commander of the Second Squadron, together with practically the entire staff of high ranking officers, found themselves assembled for fleet review.

ONTARIO BREWER KIDNAPPED AND HELD FOR HEAVY RANSOM

John S. Labatt, Sportsman and Business Leader,
Abducted When Driving From Sarnia to London—$150,000 Demanded Within Twenty-Four Hours, Under Threat of Death

Police Have Few Clues in Mysterious Disappearance

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 14 (CP).—Canada's first ransom kidnapping tonight held wealthy John S. Labatt, internationally-known London brewer, and left police baffled at his mysterious disappearance. The prominent sportsman and business leader vanished today, leaving only his abandoned car and a note signed "Three-Fingered Abe," demanding $150,000 within twenty-four hours under threat of Labatt's death.

Serious apprehension was felt for the health of the abducted man, who has been under doctors' care and on a special diet. The thirty-year-old head of John Labatt, Limited, was said to be suffering from a weak heart. It was feared the shock of the kidnapping might have a serious effect on his condition, especially if he were deprived of the diet he had been following strictly.

RETURN EMPTY-HANDED

Police returned empty-handed after a search along the fifty miles of provincial highway between Sarnia and London, where Labatt is believed to have been seized. They found no trace of the powerful black sedan having been stopped along the way and were able only to ascertain that Labatt had stopped for gasoline ten miles along the way to keep an appointment at London with his brother, Hugh.

Meantime, Hugh Labatt, vice-president of the brewing firm, conferred with Gen. V. A. S. Williams, head of Ontario Police, together with a squad of Toronto detectives.

HAS KIDNAP NOTE

Labatt carried with him to Toronto the kidnap note which was reported to have been found in the abandoned car. He refused to divulge its contents and police clamped down a censorship on their movements which shrouded the whole affair in the deepest mystery.

SEEK RECALL OF SEATTLE MAYOR

Signatures of 21,000 Carried on Petition—Move
Outgrowth of Strike

SEATTLE, Aug. 14 (AP).—Recall of Mayor Charles I. Smith was demanded in petitions purporting to bear the signatures of 21,000 voters, filed today with J. P. Kelly, chief registrar in the city comptroller's office.

The recall is an outgrowth of the recent longshoremen's strike, in which Mayor Smith took vigorous action in restricting the activities of striking pickets on the waterfront. The petition was filed by Kenneth Caplan, representing the "Seattle Law and Order League."

While the petition lacked several thousand of the 27,164 signatures required to force a recall election, Caplan said that more than enough signatures would be filed in the immediate future. He estimated about 45,000 signatures had been obtained.

ILLEGAL PROMISE ALLEGED

The recall charges attacked Mayor Smith's policy in the waterfront strike primarily. In addition, the charge was made that he violated the city charter in allegedly promising Albert E. Pierce the appointment as superintendent of railways, in return for political services.

The charges relate that in withdrawing officers from their regular beats for waterfront strike duty, the Mayor left the rest of the city without proper police protection.

Filing of the recall petitions was met without outward show of concern by Mayor Smith.

FASCISTS BLAMED FOR CORK RIOT

Blue Shirts Stand Guard Over Body of Farmer Killed During Sharp Clash

CORK, Aug. 14 (CP-Havas).—Six Blue Shirts were standing guard, today, over the body of a farmer killed in yesterday's riot when police fired upon a crowd attempting to prevent the forced sale of cattle seized for non-payment of taxes.

The fact that Blue Shirts were the death watch was interpreted here as indicating that General Owen O'Duffy's Fascist United Ireland Party were behind the riot. This belief was further strengthened by a report that E. J. Cussen, member of the executive committee of the Blue Shirts, was one of the many wounded.

RECONSTRUCT AUTO MURDER

MONTREAL, Aug. 14 (CP).—Medico-legal science had established, here, tonight, that the three gunmen who murdered Police Court interpreter Alexander W. Souleikoff fired the fatal shot through his brain, after they had knocked him senseless to the pavement with blows on the head with a blunt instrument, presumably the butt of a revolver.

While detectives conducted a city-wide man hunt for the killers, medico-legal experts reconstructed, piece by piece, the grim scene unfolded when the murder was carried out last night.

FIND FINGERPRINTS

They found fingerprints on the side of the interpreter's car, in which he was traveling in answer to a faked call when he met his death. They discovered that the murdered man had not crawled from his car to the curb, as had at first been believed, but had been dragged along the pavement after being dealt a stunning blow on the skull with a blunt instrument.

It was established also that Souleikoff had tried to defend himself by producing a revolver he had a permit to carry. A bullet wound on his left hand led experts to the conclusion it had been inflicted by his own gun. The theory was that when Souleikoff produced his revolver, one of the players seized his wrist, causing the victim's gun to shoot a bullet into his left hand, which he had freed.

Possibility of enough evidence being adduced to hold an inquest at the end of the week was foreseen.

SIR JOHN SIMON TO HEAD DELEGATION

LONDON, Aug. 14 (CP-Havas).—Sir John Simon will head the British delegation at the meeting of the Council of the League of Nations, September 12, it was announced today.

Captain Anthony Eden, Lord Privy Seal, and Under-Secretary of State for Scotland Archibald Skelton, will accompany the Secretary for Foreign Affairs, the announcement stated.

MAY ESTABLISH FOOD RESERVES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP).—A scheme borrowed from ancient civilizations, reserves of food and other necessities, today took further shape at a round of conferences on the United States drought and its ramifications.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace has said several times the normal carry-over of some of the principal crops might be increased and kept at a higher level than in the past just to meet such situations as have occurred in the wake of the dry spell.

FOR EMERGENCY ONLY

The normal carry-over of wheat is around 125,000,000 bushels. This might be hoisted to 200,000,000 without acting as a lever to depress prices in ordinary times if the trade and the country understood the excess grain would not go into commercial channels unless there was pressing need.

The "granary" proposal has not been passed upon finally but the possibility was seen today that President Roosevelt might make it official with his endorsement.

Danubian Storm Takes Two Lives

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Aug. 14 (AP).—Two persons are known dead and fifteen swimmers and boaters caught on the Danube in one of the heaviest storms here in years, were missing tonight.

A woman was killed by falling bricks as her house collapsed in the wind, and a peasant was struck by lightning.

Astronomers Here Praised for Fine Scientific Work

Dr. Gordon Shaw Gives Interesting Address on "The Sun" Before Summer Study Group of Astronomical Society—Observational Work

TRIBUTE to the magnificent contribution being made to science by the staff at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory was paid at the well-attended meeting of the Victoria section of the Astronomical Society, held Monday evening, at Victoria College.

"In a summer series such as this, we are deeply indebted to the information which is made available by the patient, hard-working professional astronomers and physicists," said the speaker of the evening, Dr. Gordon Shaw. "We are very fortunate in Victoria in having half a dozen outstanding fine astronomers, to whom this society as well as the general public should be deeply indebted for the help which they so generously and readily give to students and others who want to know something about the science. They are generous enough to praise the amateurs for the small contributions that we are making to astronomy through our study of the variables and in some other details; but far too little is said about them and what they are doing."

AMAZING INDIFFERENCE
Although the summer study series has been attracting capacity audiences almost since its inception, Dr. Shaw felt that on the whole the public was regrettably apathetic in its interest in astronomy. "When we realize the tremendous size, energy and importance of the sun in its relation to the earth and our own system; when we realize that placed in the Milky Way it would be but a dwarf 'C' type star among myriads of others; we not only have some faint inkling of the vastness of the universe, but we are astounded at the indifference and ignorance shown by most people to the study of this science," he said.

VARIED INTEREST
Dr. Shaw's subject was "The Sun," this being the first in a series in the summer study club on "The Solar System." After his interesting talk, which was illustrated with a number of lantern-slide pictures of the solar system on Mt. Wilson, various aspects of the phenomena known as sun-spots, of the sun's corona taken during eclipse, and of the Milky Way, the members adjourned to the terrace for direct observation of the sky. Under Miss Riddell's direction, they were taken for a tour of the heavens, starting with the Dipper and visiting in turn Arcturus, Andromeda, the Little Dipper, the Polar Star, Pegasus, Cassiopeia, and other constellations. She made the subject unusually interesting, treating her listeners as real amateurs when she gave them, as a standard of measurement, the diameter of the lip of the Big Dipper, the two stars on either margin of which are twenty degrees apart.

THE SUN
From the earth dweller's standpoint, the sun, our source of light and heat, was by far the most interesting and important of the heavenly bodies, Dr. Shaw maintained. Physical life on the earth would cease within a very short time if the sun were snuffed out, whereas none of the stars would be missed as far as their effect on the earth was concerned. The sun also supplied mechanical energy for man, coal and oil being merely reservoirs of energy stored up from the sun in by-gone ages. With energy-generating capacities of 70,000 horsepower per square yard, the sun was a tremendous power plant. Ninety-three million miles distant from the earth the sun's diameter was quoted as being 864,100 miles, or about 110 times the diameter of the earth.

The audience was taken on an imaginary rocket voyage to the sun in order to introduce them to the appearance of things after leaving the earth's atmosphere and gravitational influence. The sun's atmosphere the sky would lose its blueness and change to ink blackness, stars instead of twinkling would become piercing points of light shining with a steady ray, and the sun would appear white and steely.

SUN-SPOTS
Sun-spots were described, at closer range, as "great cavernous areas," which subsequently were explained by the speaker to have been the means of discovery to astronomers the fact that the sun rotates, the period of rotation being between twenty-five and twenty-six days.

Owing to the gaseous composition of the sun its poles take two or three days longer to rotate than the equator. Sun-spots occur in regular cycles of eleven-and-a-half years. The last maximum peak having occurred in 1928, another cycle will shortly be starting. The speaker noted, too, that the life of any individual sun-spot was relatively short, the majority seeming to last only a few days, while the maximum length of life of any sun-spot was about eighteen months. One sun-spot was visible on the face of the sun at the present time. Sun-spots occurred nearly always in pairs, or groups of pairs, and it had been established by means of the spectroscopic that these pairs were negative and positive magnetic spots on the sun's surface. Only about 8 per cent of the sun-spots traveled round to a second rotation so rotation had very little to do with the phenomena. It was more likely due to radiation.

On one of the photographic slides of sun-spots a small disc was superimposed to suggest the comparative size of the sun-spots, starting with the Dipper and visiting in turn Arcturus, Andromeda, the Little Dipper, the Polar Star, Pegasus, Cassiopeia, and other constellations.

She made the subject unusually interesting, treating her listeners as real amateurs when she gave them, as a standard of measurement, the diameter of the lip of the Big Dipper, the two stars on either margin of which are twenty degrees apart.

THE SUN
From the earth dweller's standpoint, the sun, our source of light and heat, was by far the most in-

HOLDING FIRES IN KOOTENAYS

Outbreak Near Reeves-Macdonald Mine Only New Blaze in Kootenays

NELSON, Aug. 14 (CP).—But for a small outbreak near the Reeves-Macdonald mine in the Pend Oreille district, the forest fire situation was unchanged today.

East and West Kootenay and the Boundary district fires are now well held, despite the fact that rain has held off. Today was even drier and hotter than Monday, but there was little or no wind.

Four fires in two weeks have broken out on Doolie Creek, in the Bull River vicinity, up from Wardner in East Kootenay. The fires are four in old logged and burned-over areas.

Fires in the Wigwag and on Corn Creek, in the East Kootenay, are still burning in out-of-way places. Fires in the Boundary and districts south and west of Nelson are all quiet, and fighters made good work on cleaning up remaining guard lines.

Mount Nelson fires burned up a little in spots, but caused little trouble. Over Croftman Creek the fire burned up high on the western slope and sent smoke down into the valley.

ONTARIO BREWER HELD FOR RANSOM

The brewer's brother was reported to have conferred late today with Toronto's chief of police, Gen. D.

The abduction, which apparently occurred as Labatt drove from his summer home at Barnia Beach, near Sarnia, to keep a mid-morning appointment at London, came as a shock to Canadian police officials. The penalty for kidnapping is twenty-five years and no ransom abduction has been on police records for decades.

THREATS ARE HEARD

Three weeks ago, it was rumored in London, threats were made that the three Labatt children, John, Mary and Arthur, would be kidnapped. One of the children is only four months old, and Labatt's car was found at noon in front of St. Joseph's Hospital, where the child was born.

First word of the disappearance came late in the morning with a memorandum in the form of a letter, stating that the Labatt residence, saying that John S. Labatt had been kidnapped and that his car would be found in front of the hospital, with a note under the wheel stating that the note set in motion the search for the organization of Western Ontario's police forces in years.

MOTHER SERIOUSLY ILL

News of the brewer's disappearance was withheld from his mother, Mrs. John Labatt, confined to her home seriously ill. The family relatives sought to calm his wife, the former Betty Lynch, of Ottawa. Her brother, W. N. Lynch, of the Cuba Company of New York, hurried to Toronto with Hugh Labatt.

Beyond the threatening kidnapping note, police had little to work on. Hugh Labatt, who received the phone message that announced his brother's disappearance, heard only a gruff voice directing him to the automobile and the note. When he asked who was calling, the receiver clanged down sharply at the end of the line.

PROMINENT IN BUSINESS

Prominent business leader and sportsman, John S. Labatt, succeeded to the presidency of the brewery firm of John Labatt, Limited, about twelve years ago. Mr. Labatt is a grandson of the late Hugh Labatt, founder of the brewery.

John S. Labatt is well known in all parts of southwestern Ontario, where for many years he has taken a keen interest in affairs generally. He was active in the conduct of the business he headed, and just a few weeks ago met several of his sales representatives from other cities in a conference at London.

HAS RANSOM MONEY

HALIFAX, Aug. 14 (CP).—My brother Hugh has left with the ransom money for the kidnappers to obtain John's freedom," Mrs. R. E. Balder, sister of the missing John S. Labatt, said tonight, after a long-distance telephone call with another sister of the wealthy brewer in London, Ont.

William Bennett Taken by Death

William Bennett, aged sixty-five years, 2920 Fifth Street, passed away yesterday in the Royal Jubilee Hospital. Born in Lancashire, England, Mr. Bennett had resided in Victoria for the past five years.

He is survived by his widow, at home, three sons, Cuthbert, Sumner, Wash; Ernest, San Francisco; and William, Colwood; four daughters, Mrs. P. Turner, Sumner; Mrs. A. R. Westley, Black Diamond; Mrs. H. Piper, San Francisco; and Mrs. Leon Guetelle, Northfield; three brothers and two sisters in Nanaimo and a sister in New Westminster.

Mr. Bennett remains resting at Sands Mortuary, and announcement of funeral will be made later.

Chilean Envoy To Paraguay Is Withdrawn

SANTIAGO, Chile, Aug. 14 (AP).—The Chilean Government today was reported to have given Dr. Enrique Gallardo Nieto, its Minister to Paraguay, peremptory orders to leave Asuncion, the Paraguayan capital, at once.

It was said he must transfer the files of the Chilean Legation at Asuncion immediately to Carlos Garcia de la Huerta, the second secretary of the Chilean Embassy at Buenos Aires.

Paraguayan criticism of Chilean neutrality in the Chaco War between Paraguay and Bolivia was believed the cause.

ANXIOUS OVER GERMAN CHURCH

Protestants of World Regard Situation as Being Very Critical

BERLIN, Aug. 14 (AP).—The German church situation is causing growing anxiety, the Rev. Dr. Henry Smith Leiper, United States church official, declared today, especially in England and United States Protestant circles.

Dr. Leiper, who is the executive of the commission on relations with churches abroad of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, has been seeking to make the Government understand the unfortunate effect Reichsbishop Mueller's recent arbitrary measures are having on churches abroad.

Dr. Leiper is leaving this weekend for Fano, Denmark, where he will attend meetings of the Universal Christian Council for Life Work and the World Alliance for International Friendship Through Churches.

DOMINATES MEETING

The German situation is expected to be a dominant topic at this session, Dr. Leiper said. In order that Reichsbishop Mueller should be under no misapprehension as to what issues will be examined, six points have been brought to his attention as those which will draw sharp condemnation from the churches.

POINTS AT ISSUE

They were framed by the Anglo-Saxon churches as follows: 1. Prohibition of opposition to actions and decrees objectionable on spiritual grounds.

2. Power taken by the Reichsbishop to appoint and depose or suspend decrees at his simple unreviewed discretion.

3. The use of police to help in the suppression of his opponents.

4. The dismissal of pastors because of their opposition to "German Christian" policies.

5. Putting State considerations above religious considerations, especially above the principle of the freedom of the Gospel.

6. The grave danger of the church being used as an instrument of the National Socialist Party and being absorbed by the State.

MINISTER URGES IMPROVED ETHICS

of an article at the ultimate point of delivery to the consumer. "And don't charge me with attacking this man or that man. I have talked before and I intend to talk again."

In agriculture, 50 per cent of the people of the country were engaged in an unprofitable industry. "We have never had a sound basis in Canada until the agricultural population are put in a reasonable state of prosperity."

HOME MARKETS

It was not good enough to say that the law of supply and demand governed agricultural prices. It was true that the price of wheat was governed by the international market. "But, you consume in Canada 99 per cent of the butter produced in Canada; 98 per cent of the beef; 100 per cent of the eggs. Add to these milk. And for these major products of the farm, almost all of which is consumed in Canada, you have prices that mean starvation for your farmers and the piling up of debt. Soon the capacity to absorb losses will be reached."

"Those who are merchandising beef in Canada, for example," the minister declared, "have at the present time control of the price in Canada."

"A buyer goes to a packing concern. He is going to put on a sale. He can pay only seven cents. He gets the beef at his price, but an inferior product. The man next door is selling No. 1 beef. But they both look like beef and the impression is given that one man is charging an exorbitant price."

CANNOT CONTINUE

"And because one buyer buys at a price to suit his whim, the whole beef structure is affected. The farmers take what is left."

"That sort of thing can't continue. It is unnecessary, unsound and unequal."

"Turn to the manufacturer. The old theory of price-making was that goods were turned out at the cost of production plus a small profit, regulated by competition. Distribution charges were added."

Now the buyer sets the price at which he would buy the manufacturer must keep his plant going, and the only thing he can do is wages, said the minister.

DISGRACE TO CANADA

"Wages paid during the past years were a disgrace to this country," he went on. "I am making no secret of a Utopia. I don't believe in Marxian Socialism, Mussolinism."

BANDITS ROB ONTARIO BANK

Manager Refuses to Open Safe—$2,200 Is Taken From Teller's Cage

CARGILL, Ont., Aug. 14 (CP).—Two armed men entered the branch office of the Royal Bank of Canada today and, after attempting to force the manager and teller to open the safe, scooped up all the loose currency in the teller's cage and escaped in a sedan in which three accomplices were waiting. They were said to have escaped with about $2,200.

Cargill is in Bruce County, about nine miles northwest of Walkerton. The car was last seen heading toward Greenock swamp, with four villagers in a smaller car in pursuit. According to details given police, the two men entered the building just after opening time, and with drawn guns threatened the manager, L. Dreeske, when he refused their demand to open the safe.

FUTURE BRIGHTER
"We can look to the future with some degree of confidence. But I am not one of those content to wait until the normal turn of the cycle. I am not going to be a silent witness to abuses and errors."

"We have passed through a period of stress and trial out of which we are about to emerge, but if we do not seize upon the knowledge we have gained, we will simply slip into a worse morass."

"The most destructive element in business is fear and worry; fear of unfair competition; fear of destructive influences over which we have no control."

"We have got to remove that element of fear and distrust. The greatest antidote to fear is to have a clear conscience and knowledge that we are doing the right thing."

SPRIT OF RIGHT
"The problem of law enforcement is not the framing of laws, but the avowal and greed of men who find a way to operate outside the law. We want men not only to obey the laws but to do what is right regardless of whether it is law or not."

"If we were to return to the prosperity conditions of 1928-29 you would still have a very large measure of unemployment. That will not be solved by a mere turn in the cycle. The progress of mechanization was not fully realized when this depression started."

Mr. Stevens also dealt with the "transposing of the capital structure of industry and commercial life by the introduction of a large measure of bonded control, replacing personal control."

BURDEN OF DEBT

Bonded indebtedness in Canada increased from $220,000,000 in 1915 to $1,178,000,000 in 1932, or by five times. Time was when men looked upon a mortgage as a menace to the happiness and security of the individual. But between 1929 and 1932 one was looked upon as a simpleton if he had assets that weren't mortgaged.

Out of 120 mortgages, involving 550 firms, all we got was a tremendous increase in mortgage indebtedness and the loss of private enterprise and responsibility. The investor lost—the country lost. It is a question if so-called modern efficiency gained anything when we considered what it cost in social equities.

SAYS AUSTRALIAN WAGES KEPT HIGH

Owing to the minimum wage laws, wages in Australia maintained a fairly high level throughout the depression, Dr. F. J. Chapple, Adelaide, South Australia, said at the Empress Hotel, last night. Dr. Chapple, accompanied by his wife, is en route home after an extended visit to England where he found conditions to be rapidly improving.

On his journey to England, he was asked by way of the St. Paul, thus on his return to Australia, he will have enriched the globe.

Business in Australia is following a similar road to recovery as that of Great Britain, Dr. Chapple explained. Employment figures are being lowered in both countries.

Dr. and Mrs. Chapple were in England during the recent drought and told of many restrictions which were levied on the use of water. Only two inches of water were allowed for bathing, while no quantity was permitted for garden purposes, they explained.

Manager Refuses to Open Safe—$2,200 Is Taken From Teller's Cage

CARGILL, Ont., Aug. 14 (CP).—Two armed men entered the branch office of the Royal Bank of Canada today and, after attempting to force the manager and teller to open the safe, scooped up all the loose currency in the teller's cage and escaped in a sedan in which three accomplices were waiting. They were said to have escaped with about $2,200.

Cargill is in Bruce County, about nine miles northwest of Walkerton. The car was last seen heading toward Greenock swamp, with four villagers in a smaller car in pursuit. According to details given police, the two men entered the building just after opening time, and with drawn guns threatened the manager, L. Dreeske, when he refused their demand to open the safe.

FUTURE BRIGHTER
"We can look to the future with some degree of confidence. But I am not one of those content to wait until the normal turn of the cycle. I am not going to be a silent witness to abuses and errors."

"We have passed through a period of stress and trial out of which we are about to emerge, but if we do not seize upon the knowledge we have gained, we will simply slip into a worse morass."

"The most destructive element in business is fear and worry; fear of unfair competition; fear of destructive influences over which we have no control."

"We have got to remove that element of fear and distrust. The greatest antidote to fear is to have a clear conscience and knowledge that we are doing the right thing."

"The problem of law enforcement is not the framing of laws, but the avowal and greed of men who find a way to operate outside the law. We want men not only to obey the laws but to do what is right regardless of whether it is law or not."

"If we were to return to the prosperity conditions of 1928-29 you would still have a very large measure of unemployment. That will not be solved by a mere turn in the cycle. The progress of mechanization was not fully realized when this depression started."

Mr. Stevens also dealt with the "transposing of the capital structure of industry and commercial life by the introduction of a large measure of bonded control, replacing personal control."

MUST STAND TRIAL UPON TWO CHARGES

James William Maynard Is Committed to Higher Court — Defence Is Reserved

DEALINGS ALLEGED TO CONSTITUTE FRAUD

James William Maynard, at the preliminary hearing of two charges laid against him, was committed for trial to the higher court by Magistrate Jay in the city police court yesterday morning. One of the charges alleges that the accused, acting as the agent for Joseph R. Brown and his wife, Mrs. A. C. Brown, of 2916 Fifth Street, did unlawfully, with intent to defraud, convert to his own use the property. The second charge is one laid at the instance of H. G. Hinton, who is the trustee under the bankruptcy proceedings connected with the business of the accused. It sets out that the accused violated the statutes in not keeping books in such condition as to show the proper state of the business affairs.

In both instances, the Attorney-General's Department had authorized proceedings. The accused will now have the opportunity of appearing in the county court, where he will elect as to whether, on the charges, he will take trial before the judge or will defer until the next Assize sitting and take trial before a jury.

RAISED OBJECTION
A. J. Patton, who appeared for the accused, took objection to the proceedings yesterday on the ground that under the statutes the charges should not be laid under the Criminal Code, but that the Bankruptcy Act was intended to cover such cases. Already bankruptcy proceedings had been taken, and the proper course to get before the court was on a recommendation of the trustees and inspectors taken to the Superior Court, which would decide whether there was ground for proceedings.

Magistrate Jay overruled the objections raised by Mr. Patton, who, thereupon, elected to take only preliminary proceedings before the magistrate, with the suggestion that he might appeal to a superior court against the course taken yesterday.

DEFERS DEFENCE

No evidence was offered on behalf of the accused on either count, the defence being reserved for the hearing in the higher court. The main witness in connection with the transactions alleged in respect to the first charge, in which the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brown was concerned, was Mr. Brown himself. Cleve White appeared as counsel for the prosecution in both cases.

Mr. Brown recounted his dealings with Mr. Maynard, the accused, dating back to August 18, 1932. According to the evidence of Mr. Brown, the accused had offered to sell the home which Mr. and Mrs. Brown found was too large for them. That same evening, Mr. Maynard went out to the Brown home and discussed the matter, the price being fixed at $5,000. The accused, according to Mr. Brown, wanted the deed of the property turned over to himself, which, he said, would facilitate the sale.

The owners objected to turning over the title and the matter was discussed at great length, said the witness, in order that the owners might have money with which to go on, the accused, it was stated, agreed to give his note for the amount mentioned, bearing interest at 8 per cent per annum, and pay $33 a month and take care of the taxes, pending the final settlement on the sale of the property.

PROPOSED LOAN
The accused asserted that no commission would be charged for the sale, but he would like to borrow $2,000 from the proceeds and would be agreeable to pay as high as 10 per cent interest. Mr. Maynard, witness said, was most persistent and wanted an answer that night. It was finally agreed to turn over the title, and next morning Mr. Maynard came out with the necessary papers, all ready for signing. The certificate of title was agreed to be passed over to Mr. Maynard, and a note for $5,000 extending over two years was given in return, signed by Mr. and Mrs. Maynard.

After the transaction was completed, the monthly payments did not come in very regularly. He had to request the accused to make payment, and it was only after two months' time that the initial payment of about $15 was made.

It was not over a year after the mortgage was placed on the property, Mr. Brown said, that he learned there was such a mortgage. The accused offered the excuse for placing it that the place was a hard one to sell.

When he learned that there was this mortgage on the property, witness said he went to a lawyer in the matter. There had been no permission given to place such a mortgage.

To Mr. Patton, witness stated he paid a note for $5,000 with $33 to be paid monthly from Mr. Maynard when he handed over the deed to the property.

PLACING OF MORTGAGE
J. Y. Copeman told of having acted for a client in 1925 who had a mortgage executed on an Elk Lake property. This was for $3,000 on property held by the accused. In 1932 this mortgage was settled by the payment of $500 in cash and the placing of a $2,500 mortgage on the Brown property on Fifth Street. He had not seen Mr. Brown in the matter. He had drawn up, on instructions, the conveyance of the property from Mr. and Mrs. Brown to Mr. Maynard.

Harold A. Beckwith testified that on February 17, 1934, he was instructed by Mr. Brown and proceeded to have rectification made of what he understood was in error. There was delay in getting action, and on February 22, 1934, witness told accused what must be done. There must be immediate rectification by the transfer of the property connected with the matter to the Browns. In addition, there must be a discharge of the mortgage on the property. The way of attaining these ends, Mr. Beckwith said, did not interest him. There were two things to be accomplished or an action in the Supreme Court would be at once launched.

With further delay, action was commenced in the court on March 6. Mr. Maynard had attempted to have action withdrawn, promising to settle the matter, but this was refused.

On March 9, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard executed a conveyance of the property subject to an existing mortgage. At the same time it was agreed that by April 15 the mortgage would be discharged from the property.

In answer to Mr. Patton, witness said that he was an inspector appointed under the bankruptcy proceedings. He, however, declared that he had nothing whatever to do with the laying of the information.

MADE NO THREAT
Asked if he had not threatened criminal proceedings if the course followed was not taken, Mr. Beckwith said he had not done so. He had informed Mrs. Maynard that it was a serious position they were placed in.

He had not advised the Maynards to have independent advice on the matter before taking the course they did. Witness said he was satisfied that they understood the effects of the documents they were signing.

Mr. Patton took the position that there had been a straightforward sale of the property in appealing to the magistrate for a dismissal of the charge. The document obtained by Mr. Beckwith had been obtained as a result of bringing pressure to bear on his client.

The court pointed out that there was no consideration given in connection with the handing over of the property except a note payable in two years. He felt there was a case to meet and, accordingly, committed the accused for trial.

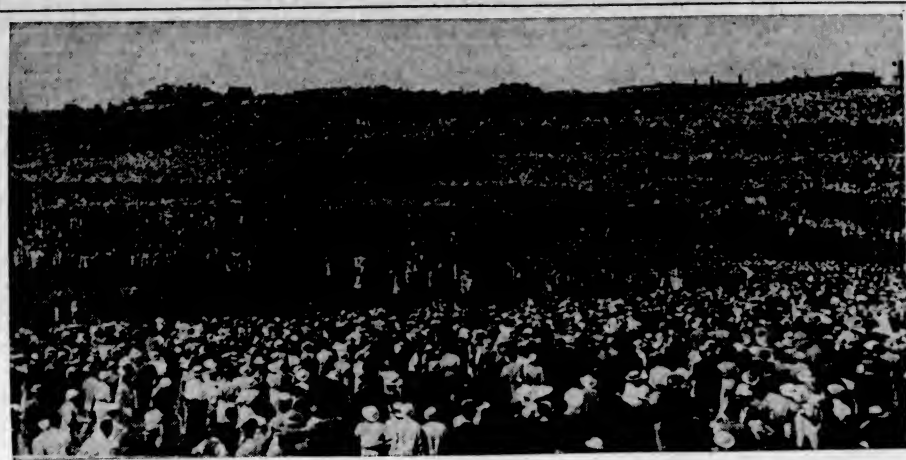

SECOND COUNT
On the second count, the objections raised by Mr. Patton as to the procedure were overruled by the magistrate as in the first instance.

A woman witness testified that the accused had come to her to borrow money on January 19, 1934. She had loaned him $250, to be used in his business. Again, on January 28, another $200 was borrowed; on January 30 another $300 was obtained from her, and on February 1 another $300. In connection with the loans, the accused, she said, offered as a reason that he had a chance to pick up store stock very cheaply and would make big money. He had promised from time to time to repay, but owed her now $850.

She had been given the note of the accused for the repayment of the amounts advanced.

The picture shows a drumhead service being held at Riverside Park, Toronto, during the recent Canadian Corps reunion which brought thousands of ex-service men from all parts of the Dominion to the Ontario city. The service was held on August 5, and the picture shows a portion of the huge crowd, estimated at 72,000 for-mer soldiers and 200,000 spectators. Twenty-six massed bands were on the park grounds. NOTED ARTIST VISITING CITY

John H. Clymer, of Toronto, Comes Here to See His Old Teacher

"I came to Victoria to see my old art teacher, and the man to whom I owe so much of any success that I may have had, George H. Southwell," declared John H. Clymer, noted artist and magazine illustrator of Toronto.

Mr. Clymer, accompanied by Mrs. Clymer, came to the Coast on a holiday trip a month ago, but his work followed him and he has been busy all the time executing commissions for Eastern publishing houses. "I wanted to paint some of the glorious British Columbia scenery once more," he stated yesterday, "but I have not had a chance. I took a house at Whyliff for my holiday, but I have not had an opportunity of getting far from it, and now it is time for me to return to Toronto."

PRaises MURALS
"I couldn't leave without coming over to see Mr. Southwell," he added. "You see, he did so much for me. I consider him to be one of the foremost art teachers on the continent. Those mural panels he painted at the Parliament Buildings, which I had the pleasure of seeing today, are typical of his work, and among artists are regarded as being among the best in Canada."

Mr. Clymer started his art education at the Vancouver Art School, but after several years there left greatly discouraged. It was then that he came into contact with Mr. Southwell, who instructed him for several years.

Leaving Vancouver, Mr. Clymer went to Toronto, where he achieved success almost from the start. His decorative treatment of subjects made instant appeal. He spent some time in New York in further study and then returned to Toronto, where his work is in exceptional demand. He also finds a regular market for his illustrations in United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Clymer intend to drive up the Island before returning to the East. They are both disappointed that time will not permit of a lengthy stay in Victoria and the surrounding districts, but they hope to be able to return next year.

FIVE EXECUTED FOR DEATH OF MISSIONARY

TIENTSIN, China, Aug. 14 (AP).—China exacted retribution, today, for the murder of Dr. J. H. Ingram, fifty-seven-year-old American missionary by bandits two months ago when the Provincial Government executed five Chinese convicted of the crime.

Dr. Ingram was shot to death in his Summer bungalow, outside Peiping, as he sought to protect his wife and grandchildren from a band of robbers which entered the house late at night.

ceedings had been taken, and the proper course to get before the court was on a recommendation of the trustees and inspectors taken to the Superior Court, which would decide whether there was ground for proceedings.

Magistrate Jay overruled the objections raised by Mr. Patton, who, thereupon, elected to take only preliminary proceedings before the magistrate, with the suggestion that he might appeal to a superior court against the course taken yesterday.

No evidence was offered on behalf of the accused on either count, the defence being reserved for the hearing in the higher court.

The main witness in connection with the transactions alleged in respect to the first charge, in which the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brown was concerned, was Mr. Brown himself. Cleve White appeared as counsel for the prosecution in both cases.

Mr. Brown recounted his dealings with Mr. Maynard, the accused, dating back to August 18, 1932. According to the evidence of Mr. Brown, the accused had offered to sell the home which Mr. and Mrs. Brown found was too large for them. That same evening, Mr. Maynard went out to the Brown home and discussed the matter, the price being fixed at $5,000. The accused, according to Mr. Brown, wanted the deed of the property turned over to himself, which, he said, would facilitate the sale.

The owners objected to turning over the title and the matter was discussed at great length, said the witness, in order that the owners might have money with which to go on, the accused, it was stated, agreed to give his note for the amount mentioned, bearing interest at 8 per cent per annum, and pay $33 a month and take care of the taxes, pending the final settlement on the sale of the property.

PROPOSED LOAN
The accused asserted that no commission would be charged for the sale, but he would like to borrow $2,000 from the proceeds and would be agreeable to pay as high as 10 per cent interest.

Mr. Maynard, witness said, was most persistent and wanted an answer that night. It was finally agreed to turn over the title, and next morning Mr. Maynard came out with the necessary papers, all ready for signing. The certificate of title was agreed to be passed over to Mr. Maynard, and a note for $5,000 extending over two years was given in return, signed by Mr. and Mrs. Maynard.

After the transaction was completed, the monthly payments did not come in very regularly. He had to request the accused to make payment, and it was only after two months' time that the initial payment of about $15 was made.

It was not over a year after the mortgage was placed on the property, Mr. Brown said, that he learned there was such a mortgage. The accused offered the excuse for placing it that the place was a hard one to sell.

When he learned that there was this mortgage on the property, witness said he went to a lawyer in the matter. There had been no permission given to place such a mortgage.

To Mr. Patton, witness stated he paid a note for $5,000 with $33 to be paid monthly from Mr. Maynard when he handed over the deed to the property.

PLACING OF MORTGAGE
J. Y. Copeman told of having acted for a client in 1925 who had a mortgage executed on an Elk Lake property. This was for $3,000 on property held by the accused. In 1932 this mortgage was settled by the payment of $500 in cash and the placing of a $2,500 mortgage on the Brown property on Fifth Street. He had not seen Mr. Brown in the matter. He had drawn up, on instructions, the conveyance of the property from Mr. and Mrs. Brown to Mr. Maynard.

Harold A. Beckwith testified that on February 17, 1934, he was instructed by Mr. Brown and proceeded to have rectification made of what he understood was in error. There was delay in getting action, and on February 22, 1934, witness told accused what must be done. There must be immediate rectification by the transfer of the property connected with the matter to the Browns. In addition, there must be a discharge of the mortgage on the property. The way of attaining these ends, Mr. Beckwith said, did not interest him. There were two things to be accomplished or an action in the Supreme Court would be at once launched.

With further delay, action was commenced in the court on March 6. Mr. Maynard had attempted to have action withdrawn, promising to settle the matter, but this was refused.

On March 9, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard executed a conveyance of the property subject to an existing mortgage. At the same time it was agreed that by April 15 the mortgage would be discharged from the property.

In answer to Mr. Patton, witness said that he was an inspector appointed under the bankruptcy proceedings. He, however, declared that he had nothing whatever to do with the laying of the information.

MADE NO THREAT
Asked if he had not threatened criminal proceedings if the course followed was not taken, Mr. Beckwith said he had not done so. He had informed Mrs. Maynard that it was a serious position they were placed in.

He had not advised the Maynards to have independent advice on the matter before taking the course they did. Witness said he was satisfied that they understood the effects of the documents they were signing.

Mr. Patton took the position that there had been a straightforward sale of the property in appealing to the magistrate for a dismissal of the charge. The document obtained by Mr. Beckwith had been obtained as a result of bringing pressure to bear on his client.

The court pointed out that there was no consideration given in connection with the handing over of the property except a note payable in two years. He felt there was a case to meet and, accordingly, committed the accused for trial.

SECOND COUNT
On the second count, the objections raised by Mr. Patton as to the procedure were overruled by the magistrate as in the first instance.

A woman witness testified that the accused had come to her to borrow money on January 19, 1934. She had loaned him $250, to be used in his business. Again, on January 28, another $200 was borrowed; on January 30 another $300 was obtained from her, and on February 1 another $300. In connection with the loans, the accused, she said, offered as a reason that he had a chance to pick up store stock very cheaply and would make big money. He had promised from time to time to repay, but owed her now $850.

She had been given the note of the accused for the repayment of the amounts advanced.

IMPERIAL DEFENCE

In air strength the leading Powers are France, the United States, Japan, Italy and Russia. Britain occupies sixth place. General Ashmore, a former commander of London's air defences, has been reminding the people that London and its port are much more exposed to air attack than any continental capital. The Thames provides a track. The great systems of docks and quays of London are essential for the subsistence of Britain. They require adequate defences against air attack. It is the same with Britain's naval bases. Malta is exposed; Singapore is not sufficiently protected; Hongkong has no air-craft.

The development of an Air Force and the strengthening of the British Navy are interdependent factors, for the former lays new obligations on the latter. Similarly the Army, with growing mechanization, as well as airplanes and naval vessels, is dependent on petrol for capacity to act. The bulk of this petrol has to be imported from overseas. Britain, to maintain herself against any future wars of aggression, has to import her raw materials, three-fifths of her food and an enormous quantity of oil and petrol. The latter is essential for inland transport, for the Navy, the Army and the Air Force.

Britain is to double the strength of her Air Force in a period of five years. Her Navy is to be reconditioned. These are necessary developments growing out of the international situation and the failure of the Powers to agree on disarmament measures. From the naval standpoint, however, it is doubtful if any good can be achieved of lasting value until such time as it is possible to denounce the Treaty of London. Then only will Britain be at liberty to provide adequate naval forces for Home and Imperial defence. There are three considerations, apart from the imperative one of the inconvertibility of British shores, which make it necessary to strengthen the Royal Navy and to restore it fully to its place of usefulness in keeping the peace of the world. One is that Germany has tacitly, if not actually, been accorded "equality in arms" and will most certainly avail herself of the situation to rebuild her Navy. The second is that the forthcoming experiment of Home Rule for India will undoubtedly affect the whole position of Imperial defence. The third is that the Irish Free State now constitutes an antagonistic community lying athwart Britain's sea routes. It is these and other factors which are restoring Britain's sense of sea-mindedness and making her air-minded as well.

SOUND BANKING PRACTICE

It is a matter of common observation that under a competitive system private enterprise can usually be trusted to come forward to render service and meet legitimate needs by supplying necessary capital for economically sound business propositions. When the banking investigation was going forward with its public hearings the statement was frequently made that the needs of small borrowers for loan facilities were not adequately met. The complaint was made that it was impossible in certain cases to obtain accommodation from the ordinary bank manager on any terms, and that in other cases charges were too high. The latter part of the complaint is probably unfounded, but it is likely that, owing to the nature of any banking business dependent upon deposits, bank managers have found it highly inconvenient to endanger the fluidity of their position by locking up too much of their resources for an indefinite time.

In the Old Country an attempt is being made to meet this difficulty in a practical way. The position of the banker dependent on deposits is easily understood, but an institution using its own capital is free to enter into business deals and engagements which would "aridly be open to the banker who is merely a trustee obliged to find investment for other people's money. An experiment has been carried on for some years which undertakes to finance certain forms of business activity by lending its own capital for the purpose. The venture is one which is in no way antagonistic to the operation and interest of the ordinary banks. The latter have ample resources to make all necessary advances to industry which can be made with due regard to the requirements of sound deposit banking. The purpose of the new institution is to provide a practical test of the extent to which it is possible to provide small industrial loans for an extended period.

The financial expert of The London Spectator states that the United Dominions Trust, Limited, established a few years ago on these lines, and the Credit for Industry, Limited, a subsidiary organization established this year, are likely to do much towards retaining individualism in trade. The two institutions enjoy the good will and co-operation of the ordinary banks. It all goes to show that whatever is required to meet industrial and mercantile needs can readily be provided by the development of the banking system without resorting to revolutionary measures.

VANCOUVER AND QUADRA

An ambitious and public-minded body of young men in Vancouver comprise an organization known as the Junior Chamber of Civic Affairs. One of its purposes is a very laudable one—to make known to citizens of Vancouver facts concerning their city and district. In doing so, however, the Junior Chamber of Civic Affairs should not permit enthusiasm to overcome historical exactitude, as was done the other day in an advertisement it was stated by the Junior Chamber of Civic Affairs that "Spanish Banks" obtained its name by reason of the meeting at Point Grey of "Quadra, the great Spanish navigator," and Captain George Vancouver.

If there is one item of historical data which should be known to every boy and girl in Vancouver, it is that Quadra never visited English Bay, or Spanish Banks. The facts are that Quadra remained at Nootka awaiting the arrival of Vancouver, to discuss with him the fulfillment of the terms of the Nootka Convention, and that Galiano and Valdez, whom Vancouver met at Spanish Banks, so informed him.

That same body also announces: "New Westminster is called the Royal City because, first incorporated city on the Mainland, it was called the Queen City; this aroused objection from Victoria, Island capital, which stood on rights of priority. The objection resulted in Victoria being called the Queen City and the Fraser River Mainland capital called the Royal City, as the name Queensborough was displaced by royal order, and the present name was given." This view is a most astounding one. The facts are easily obtainable. All that is necessary is for the official of that body to request Mr. E. S. Robinson, librarian at the Carnegie Library, to put them right. He can show them the official dispatches of Governor James Douglas contained in the volume of "B.C. Papers" on file there. They can learn that Governor Douglas wrote to Sir E. B. Lytton, announcing that it would be regarded as a special mark of favor if Her Majesty would personally name the capital of British Columbia. Until such time as she has expressed her royal pleasure the place would be called "Queen'sborough." He asked that it should be "Queen'sborough" with the Royal Family, either after the Queen, the Royal Consort or one of Her Majesty's children. Queen Victoria did not accept the Governor's suggestions, but instead, associated her new capital with the capital of the Empire, and christened the town New Westminster. Because Her Majesty had personally selected the name, the community has since been referred to as "The Royal City."

The Vancouver Junior Chamber of Civic Affairs is sponsoring a worth-while movement in its efforts to educate citizens to the importance of local knowledge, but in fathering historically inaccurate statements it has not made an auspicious start.

INFLATION IN U.S.A.

The nationalization of local stocks of silver and of future imports of that metal at $50.01 cents an ounce by the United States will hardly create a ripple on the world's currency problem. The American Government has been paying 64½ cents an ounce for newly-mined domestic silver. The purpose of the nationalization measure is to put a stop to speculation in the hoarding of bar silver. There is no nationalization applied to silver in fabricated articles.

The step taken is undoubtedly inflationary. The Roosevelt Administration has moved from one inflationary step to another since March, 1933. What it has done in this respect has gradually forced the American dollar down to a gold value of 56 cents. The reaction to this has, in one respect at least, been disappointing. The estimate is that there is a sum of $12,000,000,000 lying idle in American banks. There is hesitancy about widespread investment in industrial undertakings so long as the inflationary policy is pursued. Moreover, in financial circles, there is a good deal of concern over the rapidly increasing Treasury deficits occasioned by the Rooseveltian programme.

Note and Comment

By R. A. D.

Latent genius is but a presumption. Everything that can be bound to come into being, and what never comes into being is nothing at all.

In times which were more or less bright, the physician who was in doubt began treatment of his patient by a process known as bleeding. In modern times diseases of the body politic, at least in some countries, are treated by shedding of blood. When the political body in Russia or in Germany becomes feverish, the fever is effectively abated for a time by cutting off a few heads and letting the hot blood flow. This summary treatment has produced temporary tranquility in the nations. There is nothing of interest to report from Germany. The eyes of the world are now upon the United States, where the New Deal has taken a new turn, and interesting developments may be expected and will be duly chronicled in the newspapers. The otherwise omnipotent N.R.A. has not yet gone the length of attempting to muzzle the press.

From such information as can be gathered from the newspapers we understand that business in the United States has not responded as readily or as fully as was expected to the devaluation of the dollar and the revaluation of gold, so the President has resorted to other drastic methods of treatment and stimulation he held in reserve. The revaluation of gold has been followed by the revaluation of silver. Readers of the newspapers and students of economics and politics will remember that Mr. Roosevelt publicly announced that if the New Deal did not prove as successful as anticipated in restoring prosperity and providing employment for labor, something more effective would be attempted.

When the President returned from his holiday the prospects could not have been altogether pleasing, for he is trying something else, something which may have a political as well as an economic aspect. If the nationalization of silver means a return to bimetalism, as some contend and some deny, the amendment to the New Deal is a dictatorial order which will have some effect upon the November Congressional elections—for it gives the representatives of the Silver States something they have been demanding for about fifty years. The President is a shrewd politician as well as a daring experimenter in economic policy. His public career would be short if he did not know, in the words of a shrewd Canadian politician of a very remote day, "how to win elections."

There have been several business depressions in the history of the United States, but there never was a business depression in that country or in any other country quite like the existing depression. One difference between the still existing depression and all former depressions is that it is coincidental with depressions in other countries. Which, of course, is an aggravating circumstance. Another difference is that former depressions were limited to run their natural course until time, which is a sure cure for all ills which are not incurable, brought about the conditions known as normal.

But the chief distinction between the current depression and all previous depressions is the attempt which is being made (and which everybody hopes will be successful) to effect a summary cure by legislative and executive action. The United States has developed into a country of big business and big industries, carried on in big buildings and over big transportation concerns and financed by big financial institutions. None of those big institutions were ever supposed to have been established upon weak foundations until the depression descended and shattered their confidence.

The object of the New Deal is to restore confidence to big business and give small business opportunities which are believed to be their due. The supreme object of the New Deal appears to be to give all the people what is known as a square deal. Hence a national system of business and industrial codes has been established. The whole nation has been codified, but the machinery of codification is so complicated, has been so costly to make, and may be so expensive to operate, that there are sceptics who fear it may break down and produce a state of business chaos instead of anticipated prosperity.

That is why the eyes of the world are no longer fixed upon the absolute dictatorships of Europe and have been turned to the limited dict-

1210 Douglas Street F. W. FRANCIS 1210 Douglas StreetFAVORS USING MORE SILVER

Views on White Metal Usage Are Expressed by Hon. H. H. Stevens

VANCOUVER, Aug. 14 (CP).—Hon. H. H. Stevens told a delegation of mining men, today, he would like to see more silver put into the country's currency in the form of 25 and 50-cent pieces.

The Minister of Trade and Commerce assured his audience he would lend his entire support to remonetization of silver. He had given the problem much consideration, discussed it with business leaders of many countries, and had reached the conclusion more silver should be placed in circulation.

Should Canada remonetize silver, Mr. Stevens said, similar action would follow in other countries. He was anxious to encourage greater use and sale of Canadian silver, which would lead to the reopening of many dormant mines, with consequent increase in employment and improved business.

The delegation was headed by Dr. Victor Dolmage, president of the British Columbia Chamber of Mines, and included members of that organization's executive.

The British Columbia Chamber of Mines is preparing a memorandum on the silver question to be presented soon to Prime Minister R. B. Bennett.

NURSES RECEIVE THEIR DIPLOMAS

Impressive Ceremony Conducted at Rest Haven Sanitarium—Dr. Burden Addresses Class

SIDNEY, Aug. 14.—The lounge at Rest Haven Sanitarium, on Monday evening, was the setting for a picture of impressive beauty and grace, witnessed by a number of friends and visitors, the occasion being the presentation of diplomas to five graduates of the institution's training school for nurses by Dr. Harold G. Burden, medical superintendent.

Flowers of varied hue were banked around the decorated rostrum, and bouquets presented by many friends of the young graduates added a note of lovely color. At the rear of the platform was the class motto in letters of gold against a black background, "Into the Furrow of the World's Great Need." The class was addressed by Pastor J. W. McNeil, a native son of Nova Scotia, who, before taking over his present charge in Washington, D.C., spent seven years of missionary service in South Africa. In his message he emphasized the value of character formed by a consecration calling for a giving of the life totally, absolutely, unconditionally and irrevocably, to the Master Physician.

PRESENTS DIPLOMAS

Appropriate remarks were made by Dr. Burden in presenting diplomas to the following graduates: Misses Astrid Molne, Kathleen Brooks, Ellen McCartney, Mabel Olson and Eva Sutherland. The pinning of badges was undertaken by Mrs. Amy Courser, R.N., superintendent of nurses. There was on view in the recreation room, a large number of gifts, tributes of appreciation to the graduates, from former patients and friends.

The programme was as follows: Processional march, Miss P. Worman; vocal solo, Mrs. C. C. Kemaley; invocation, Dr. H. G. Burden; quartette, Miss P. Worman, Miss P. Stickle, Mr. E. Wareham, Mr. A. K. Elvedahl; address, Rev. J. W. McNeil; vocal solo, Mrs. C. C. Kemaley; presentation of diplomas and pins, Dr. H. G. Burden and Mrs. C. F. Courser, R.N.; Benediction, H. A. Shepard.

Data and Dates of Victoria and Vancouver Island

MACAULAY Point, near Victoria, was formerly known as "Sailor Point," being given that name as early as 1847. However, in 1851, it was renamed by officers of the Hudson's Bay Company in honor of Donald Macaulay.

Mr. Macaulay was at one time in charge of the Puget Sound Agricultural Company, which had charge of one of the Hudson's Bay Company's farms, named Viewfield, of which the point now bearing his name was a portion.

In 1863, Mr. Macaulay was placed in charge of the Hudson's Bay Company's powder magazine at Esquimalt, and five years later was accidentally drowned in Esquimalt Harbor.

Hawaiian Isles Are Hard Hit by U.S. Sugar Quota

Although the recently invoked United States sugar quota has crippled business considerably in the Hawaiian Islands, where sugar is recognized as the premier industry, the islands are feeling no animosity toward Washington, it was explained by E. W. Greene, Honolulu, manager of the Oahu Sugar Manufacturing Company, last night, at the Empress Hotel.

Shortly after the quota was brought into effect, many workers became unemployed, but through an emergency scheme, put forth by plantation owners, hundreds were back to work. This was done on a plan similar to the N.R.A., whereby additional men were engaged in the various plantations in proportion to the tonnage of sugar produced, Mr. Greene said. The visitor said the future looks bright for the islands and the business men are optimistic.

Mr. Greene is accompanied by his wife and will visit in the city until August 25, when he leaves for Honolulu.

What Today Means

If August 15 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. and from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m., from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. and from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m.

This August 15 may find business somewhat stimulated by some large corporations making appropriations for needed equipment and improvements. Close buying, however, may make it advisable for sellers to use sharp pencils in submitting prices. Competitive bidding probably will be unusually keen. You might find it good judgment to bear in mind "the customer is always right" and avoid any arguments. If a rather illiterate and arrogant individual is guilty of a breach of etiquette on this date, by ignoring this person's rudeness and retaining your temper, you may in the long run benefit financially by it. If invited out socially, it might prove advisable to ascertain if the affair will be formal or informal, and dress accordingly. By obtaining this information in advance, you may save yourself embarrassment.

Married couples and those contemplating matrimony might find this August 15 a good one on which to discuss and plan a definite line of action regarding their future, especially regarding financial expenditures and savings. Today two cannot possibly live as cheaply as one, and that fact should be faced. Sensible people will appreciate that married life has certain problems that can only be solved by mutual co-operation, which requires a clear understanding on the part of both regarding the subject.

If a woman and August 15 is your birthday, this should prove a very propitious day for you. There is the possibility of your being the unexpected recipient of a good deal of gratifying attention. Any nature of work involving painstaking effort should appeal to you and prove both interesting and profitable. Chemistry, library or technical research work offer excellent fields for one of your nature. If you marry, your married life should be a very happy one.

The child born on August 15, when it reaches its teens, should give evidence of a decidedly artistic nature. Music, drama or art will probably have the strongest appeal. Every encouragement should be given and proper training provided if the child evinces the right amount of interest.

If a man and August 15 is your natal day, you probably possess the poet's longing for solitude. Loud-speaking people and confused noises prove exceedingly annoying to you. A business or profession where quiet is essential will prove not only congenial, but enable you to put forth your best efforts and get results.

WILL COMBAT RACKETEERING

Chamber of Commerce to Investigate All Donation Pleas Here

To protect city merchants from repeated appeals from sources which the Victoria Chamber of Commerce believes should be subject to close scrutiny, the local chamber of business men has formed a special section to work in co-operation with the police here. It is pointed out that appeals from recognized community institutions will be exempt from investigation.

George I. Warren, managing secretary of the chamber, in discussing the matter, said secret committees composed of men of experience have been formed to pass upon appeals for donations, appeals for charity, and donation advertising. The committee will investigate requests for charity or semi-charitable donations, and promotions for contests.

TO SIGN PLEDGE

A scheme has been outlined for safeguarding merchants, and it is open to all, Mr. Warren explained. Many merchants have already joined. Members of the organization, which comes under the donation division of the Chamber of Commerce, will sign a pledge, which will be hung in their business premises, to the effect that they will make no donations until the appeal has been endorsed by the division.

Declaring that members of the Chamber of Commerce had no doubt as to the existence in Victoria of racketeering, Mr. Warren said they were determined to stop it. Merchants are being victimized, it was said, by numerous appeals under the guise of charity, with but small portions of their donations reaching charitable sources. Racketeers are said to be using the names of charities to serve their own ends, and making a business of it, and money which charity should receive was being diverted to other sources.

Victoria's Smallest Car

This miniature automobile, built by H. J. Bickerdike, 831 Yates Street, for his son, is believed to be the smallest automobile yet constructed in the Capital City. Its size may be noted by comparison with the coach model of a modern motor standing beside. Mr. Bickerdike claims the little car will attain a speed of sixty-five miles an hour. Note the tiny balloon tires compared with its big brother in the picture.

Spent Months Visiting Here With Daughter

Mrs. J. Stephenson, of 1617 Burton Avenue, has just received from England the sad news of the death of her father, G. F. Miller, who passed away at Hastings on July 27. Mr. Miller had many friends in Victoria, having spent several months with his daughter here two years ago before proceeding to Australia to visit a son. A very keen fisherman, he spent many hours in Brentwood waters trolling for salmon. In England he was a member of the Freemasons, Derwent Lodge No. 40. In addition to his daughter here, he is survived by three grandchildren.

CHURCH LEADER LAID AT REST

Funeral Services Held at Halifax for Most Rev. C. L. Worrell

HALIFAX, Aug. 14 (CP).—Impressive and reverent tribute was paid today in memory of the Most Reverend Clarendon Lamb Worrell, Anglican Archbishop of Nova Scotia, Metropolitan of the Ecclesiastical Province of Canada, and Primate of all Canada.

A throng filled All Saints Cathedral to witness solemn funeral rites for the venerable church leader, while crowds lined streets near the cathedral and far beyond.

Like a benediction, a single sunbeam streamed momentarily upon the congregation as Rt. Rev. J. A. Richardson, Bishop of Fredericton, declared: "Death, however tragic, is but a beginning and not an end—an incident on the path of living."

Interment was made at Camp Hill Cemetery, located in the heart of Halifax, and only a short distance from All Saints.

Clergy in their vestments, members of the diocese and officials prominent in the province and Dominion joined in the final tribute.

Under the urging of Rev. A. E. Smith, national secretary of the Canadian Labor Defence League, a meeting of 400 persons at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium, last night, unanimously endorsed a resolution demanding the immediate release from prison of Tim Buck, Tom Ewen and Arthur Evans; repeal of Section 98 of the Criminal Code, and recognition of the legality of the Communist movement in Canada.

The resolution will be sent to Hon. Hugh Guthrie, K.C., Minister of Justice and Attorney-General of Canada, as well as a number of

CONTRIBUTIONS

Following the adoption of the resolution, Mr. Smith made an eloquent appeal for contributions to be made to a fund for rehabilitating these men he termed "comrades." He declared they had been imprisoned for the working classes and were victims of the existing political struggle between the capitalist class and the workers' class. He pointedly told those present at the meeting that it was up to them to help the "comrades." Collection boxes were then passed around, and a substantial sum raised.

The Canadian Labor Defence League of Canada is now conducting a campaign to bring about the adoption of these items demanded in the resolution last night, Mr. Smith said. From the Atlantic to the Pacific, thousands of workers are rising in mass, he added, and great support is coming from "comrades" in the United States.

BURIED AT COLWOOD

The funeral of the late Mrs. S. Cockerton took place yesterday afternoon, impressive services being conducted by Rev. Daniel Walker, at which a large number of friends were present. The hymns sung were, "Peace, Perfect Peace" and "Rock of Ages." Mrs. S. M. Oliver sang "Crossing the Bar." The casket and hearse were covered with beautiful floral tributes. The following acted as pallbearers: Capt. F. James R.N.; R. S. A. Jackson, M. Oliver and S. M. Oliver. The remains were laid at rest in Colwood Burial Park.

Children in Good Health At Saseenos

As the tenth season of Camp Sunahine, Saseenos, Sooke, is drawing to a close, a check-up on the gains in weight and a general survey of the health conditions of the campers of the early parties is possible. The average gain in weight for the two weeks is from two to four pounds, and it is impossible to overestimate the benefit derived from this brief holiday by the sea.

In several cases, among the mothers as well as the children, it has been a case of building up after a hospital illness, and the Friendly Help Welfare Association, who have charge of the preliminary investigating and medical examinations of the applicants, are delighted with the greatly improved health of these children.

TEEN-AGE GIRLS
The teen-age girls, who are to go out for the final week of the season, are arranged in groups, with a leader for each section, so as to give better opportunity for team games and competitive sports. Only those girls who stand badly in need of a holiday and have no other means of getting one are being taken.

The last group of mothers and children for the season left yesterday, and will return, it is expected, on Monday week. The group which came back to town early this week, in spite of considerable rain their first week, look different persons to those who went out.

Silver Tea Planned by New Group

Plans for a silver tea to be held on Wednesday, August 29, were made at a meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Joseph's tubercular pavilion, held yesterday at the sisters' recreation-room at Vernon Villa. The tea will take place at the home of Mrs. C. D. Proft, Hampton Court, 158 Cook Street, the secretary, Mrs. W. McAllister, acting as joint hostess.

In the absence of the president, Miss K. Mackay, Sisters Mary Elphiria and Priscilla presided. Greetings were extended to two new members, and the names of three others were read out, this bringing the membership of the young society to a gratifying point in preparation for the membership drive to be held in the autumn. Membership cards are already printed, and full details may be secured from the secretary, Mrs. McAllister, 128 Bushby Street.

KISSINGER-FOX
The marriage of Laura Vivian Dainty, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Fox, Seattle, and Mr. Raymond Francis Kissinger, second son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Kissinger, 1110 Fairfield Road, was solemnized on Saturday last in Seattle at 1:30 o'clock in St. Joseph's Church.

Rev. Father McHugh conducted the service, which was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride looked charming in a frock of white mousseline de soie and a shell pink picture hat, and she carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses, lilies of the valley and maidenhair fern. Miss Helen Pouch was maid of honor, and the best man was Mr. C. Collins. After a honeymoon motoring in the south, for which the bride left in a smart imported ensemble of figured chocolate crepe, worn with a brown jacket and white accessories, Mr. and Mrs. Kissinger will make their home in Seattle, where the groom is employed in the office of the Shell Oil Company.

Guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Kissinger, Mr. William Nachtrieb, Mr. C. Collins and Mr. J. Kissinger, Jr., of Victoria, and Mrs. W. Gabriel and her two daughters, from Portland.

DOG'S LIFE SAVED BY UNUSUAL OPERATION

BOSTON, Aug. 14 (AP).—George, a five-year-old Sealyham, is frisking about the Angell Memorial Hospital today, completely recovered from an unusual operation—the sewing up of a rent in his diaphragm.

Dr. Rudolph H. Snider performed the operation, first of its kind. An ordinary bicycle pump was used as a means of supplying air to the lungs. An attendant pumped continuously for two hours, until the operation was completed.

Islander's Salvors Reluctant
About Gold Recovery—
Going After Bow

JUNEAU, Aug. 14 (AP).—After dragging the sunken treasure ship Islander from Davy Jones' locker, salvors decided today they must go back to the deep and dive for the vessel's bow, in the hope that it contains the money vaults they seek.

They found gold inside the barnacled hulk, along with some of the bones of seventy-two men drowned when the Islander, carrying Alaskan miners back from the rich Klondike diggings to the States, crashed and icebergs—but not the amount of gold they hoped for.

Popular belief is that she carried one or more millions, but whether in bullion or paper has not been determined. The salvage syndicate has spent $200,000 and two years diving in an effort to learn.

ANOTHER THEORY
Now their theory is that the bow contained the pursers' vaults. The bow received a terrific gash when the ship struck, and dropped off in a storm, when the remainder of the hull was cradled between two salvorships, with giant steel cables, and beached on Admiralty Island, after a series of precedent-setting deep-sea diving operations.

The bow lies in about 100 feet of water, about 2,000 feet off the island. At least thirty days' more work will be required to grapple it and bring it ashore. Meanwhile, salvors worked under heavy guard today, sluicing the debris of decades from the wreck of the Islander.

The salvors withheld information about their work, but it was known that operators of the syndicate were disappointed with results obtained thus far.

WHAT'S DOING ON THE LOCAL RETAIL PRODUCE MARKET

It will be towards the end of the month before Okanagan preserving peaches take their place on the shelves of Victoria shops, it was learned yesterday from wholesale row.

All apples now being sold here are locally grown. They are reported as being excellent.

There are plenty of Okanagan cantaloupes, peaches and pears here. A car was received on Monday.

Tomatoes grown in the city and surrounding districts, outside, are very few. Kamloops tomatoes are retailing at the lowest price in years, five cents a pound.

California plums were entirely cleaned up yesterday. It is expected no further shipments will be received, local fruit replacing the imported plums.

The Laughing Girl Mystery By Viola Partridge

CHAPTER XVI
There was a moment's silence. Then Abby pressed a button on his desk and Stevens entered, in his dark glasses and walrus moustache, carrying a stack of pads and pencils.

Abby cleared his throat. "You all know," he began in a low but clear voice, "that a murder has been committed. You have all had some relation to circumstances either immediately or distantly connected with the murder. I do not say that the murderer is among you. I do say that it is within the power of each of you to contribute your cooperation in helping solve this murder. I should like to have your assurance of this co-operation."

There was a murmur as he paused.

"I have, therefore, he went on, 'prepared a pledge of such co-operation and of secrecy as to what goes on here. Mr. Harrod will dictate it slowly. You are to write it, read carefully what you have written and then sign it.' He nodded to Stevens, who passed the tablets and pencils.

Dr. Coe said, "No, thanks. This doesn't concern me."

"You certainly can write what is dictated," Abby snapped. "You may use your own judgment as to signing it."

Dr. Coe's eyes raked him scornfully, but he took the tablet. Stevens stood on one side, his eyes on Sheridan.

"Ready?" Abby asked. "All right, Harrod."

Harrod dictated each sentence rather quickly and then looked up at one or another of the writers, scanning their faces as their pencils caught up with him. Abby, too, was scrutinizing now one face, now another as they wrote.

"I hereby deny that I have any hidden knowledge relating to the murder under investigation. Should any such come to my attention, I shall swiftly and fully convey it to the District Attorney's office."

"Now," Abby commanded, "write today's date and the hour—four-thirty p.m. Got it?"

"There were no murmurs of assent. "And now read carefully what you have written and sign your names. A refusal to sign," he looked at Dr. Coe—"will be subject to interpretation."

Stevens collected the signed statements, handed them to Abby, who glanced at them and returned them to Stevens. Stevens took them from the room, but returned as Abby began to question Arthur Hibbard, the florist's clerk.

"Now, Mr. Hibbard," Abby was saying, "I want you to tell us exactly what happened in your shop yesterday afternoon."

"It's not my story," the young man replied in a frightened voice. "I just work there. But I waited on her—the lady—that was murdered."

"Can you describe her?"

"She was the same—the same lady I saw at the morgue just now. Only yesterday she was dressed differently."

"How was she dressed?"

"She had a brown tweed suit on and a brown hat and cotton gloves, and a little shawl. And she said, 'I don't expect at all she'd buy much, but when she talked she had an English accent. And you never can tell about foreigners.'"

"What did she say exactly?"

"As near as I can remember, she said, 'What a story variety of flowers.' That's how she pronounced extraordinary. I said, 'I guess you're English.' And she said, 'Yes, I've only just arrived.' And I said, 'I hear English folks have such lovely gardens. I'd like to see yours.' And she said, 'I've lived mostly in cities, but when I was a child I once spent a summer with a great-uncle who had a garden with roses like those, and she pointed to a basket of Senior roses. Not like those,' I said. 'That's a new rose, that is, only just come out this year. It just got a prize last week at the flower show.' 'Oh, really,' she says. 'Well, I probably remember them wrong. I was only five at the time, and I just getting my meamles. The roses were taller than I, and a little cousin lifted me up to smell them.'"

Young Mr. Hibbard stopped and blew his nose. The room was silent. "And then?" Abby prompted Hibbard in a low voice.

"Then I said, 'Lots of people wouldn't mind the difference between a new rose and an old one.' And then she said, 'How much are these?' And I said, 'Six dollars a dozen because the stems are so long.' But I told her I had others just as beautiful for much less, only with shorter stems. And she says no, she take two dozen of these, please. And she had trouble figuring it so I kept trying to figure it. She said, 'I'll take them right along.' So I put them in a box and went out to the curb and hailed a taxi for her. And she gave me a dime and a real nice number on Twelfth Street. I sure never would of guessed she could afford roses like them and a tip."

"What time did she leave your shop?"

"A little after five. She seemed all of a sudden in a hurry, like she had an appointment—like she was expecting something awfully important."

"That will be all, thank you. You needn't wait," said Abby. "Now, Mr. Steng."

John Steng, the middle-aged clerk of the Hotel Astorian, sat forward in his chair and began to speak before he was questioned. "All I know is about half seven a man calls up and says did a trunk come."

Colonist Talking Film Has Unusual World-Wide News

FIRST pictures of the impressive funeral of Austria's diminutive Chancellor Dollfus, assassinated in a Nazi revolt, are to be seen in the current issue of The Colonist—Universal Newsreel at the Dominion Theatre.

Great crowds line the streets of the capital as the long cortege solemnly makes its way from the City Hall, where the statesman's widow, with his bereaved parents, look on in the company of Prince von Starhemberg and high Government officials.

Other important events in the reel are the floods at Bridgeton, New Jersey; the "civil war" in New Orleans, the visit of one of America's largest families to the Century of Progress Exposition; the national ballroom and women's races; the first glider train to carry mail; workmen repairing the White House, and the competition for motorboating's classic prize, the Gold Cup.

"I see," said Abby. "So I go to the floor pantry for the water, kind of bettin' against myself, will he tip me or won't he?" Joey paused a moment and Abby repressed a smile.

"Well, I bring the ice water and knock once. 'I reserved a room. Dennis Swift,' he says. And Mr. Steng grunts and shoves the register at him and hands me the key. So I take him up to 315 and turn on the lights and open the window a bit and kind of wait. But he goes and looks out the window, and no tip, see? So out I go to get some ice water in case that'll remind him. But soon as I shut the door, he turns the key. And I laugh to myself, because that room has a funny lock. It goes click when the key's turned halfway, but that doesn't lock it; but it goes cluck when the key's really turned, see?"

LAVAL-SUR-LE-LAC, Que., Aug. 14 (CP)—Two former titleholders fell by the wayside in the first round of the Dominion golf tournament, which opened here today.

Of the sixty-four players who started in the morning, thirty-two will survive the third round, in the afternoon.

Campbell, with the usual champion's gallery in his wake, gave a scare on the early holes by missing a putt on the tenth, but still able to skate well enough to make the hole on the eleventh, after rounding the turn with a hole advantage. Odie topped his drive at the tenth and lost five straight holes, leaving Campbell dormie four. They halved the fifteenth, Odie losing 4 and 3.

CAMPBELL IN LEAD

The pace was hot for the first few holes. Campbell was square on the fourth, but Campbell went into the lead at the fifth, when Cleghorn, dubbed a drive. The golfer-hockeyist's five was good enough to win the sixth and square the match.

Cleghorn played the seventh in perfect figures, Campbell going one over to drop behind. They divided the eighth and ninth in par figures, with the Montrealer making the turn 1 up.

Then came disaster for Cleghorn. He dubbed his drive on the tricky tenth, playing his second to the edge of a trap and his third into another. He missed his approach to set on the green in five and conceded, to square the match for the fourth time. His exhibition of "how golf should not be played" in the Canadian amateur, unnerved Cleghorn. He dropped five straight holes to the steady play of his Pacific Coast opponent, who posted two birdies and three pars.

TAYLOR BEATEN

The big upset of the day came when H. J. Findlay, Ontario, eliminated Gordon Taylor, Montreal, who scaled the heights of Canadian amateur golf in 1932.

United States threats to the title came through their early matches with few losses. Jesse Guilford, of Boston, American amateur king in 1921, was carried to the eighteenth by a nineteen-year-old Montreal boy, Roland Braut, Jack Munger, of Dallas, Texas, a real threat to the crown, won 4 and 3, from A. Bethune, Ottawa.

Other Americans who won were Henry Palm, Beverly, Mass.; Frank Wright, of Trappelo, Mass., seven times winner in his state tournament; W. J. Spivey, Winchester, Mass.; Charles Lamb, Englewood, N.J.; Wilfred Crossley, Boston; George H. Flynn, Oak Mount, Pa.; John Nies, and his brother, Ray Nies, Boston. A decided American threat was eliminated when Arthur "Ducky" Yates, of Oak Hills, N.Y., finalist in 1931, defaulted.

MORRISON, MATSON WIN
H. H. Richardson, of Montreal, turned back J. L. Cote, Salem, Mass., on the nineteenth. Canadian favorites for the crown came through early matches with few losses. Among the winners were Don Carrick, Toronto, amateur king in 1925 and 1927; G. H. Turpin, Montreal, titleholder in 1913; Jack Cameron, Montreal; Phil Farley, Ontario amateur king from 1920 to 1922; Ted Innes, Montreal, one of the Quebec threats; Bud Donovan, Winnipeg; Ken Black, Vancouver, finalist against Campbell last year; Stan Leonard and Bob Morrison, players, and Jack Matson, non-playing captain of the British Columbia Willingdon Cup team; Jack Nash, London, Ont., former Ontario titleholder; Fred Hoblitzel, Toronto; Whit Matthews, former Alberta titleholder, who won from Norman Keene, London, Ont., on the twenty-first, the longest match of the day, and Alex Weir, Winnipeg, Manitoba, finalist.

AROSE, VICE-PRESIDENT OF THE Boston Bruins, in the National Hockey League, lost his match, 5 and 3, to W. A. Bush, of Montreal. But he saw one of his bruising Bruins, Joe Lamb, Ottawa, win his match from Jack Mickles, Toronto.

MOORE OUSTED

Among the top layer of Canadians who went down to defeat were Dick Moore, Vancouver, losing to Colin Rankin, Montreal; Allan Boes, Winnipeg, who lost to Phil Farley, Toronto; P. H. Walker, secretary of the Province of Quebec Golf Association, who lost to G. R. Weir, Montreal; Carroll Stewart, Montreal, semi-finalist in 1930, who lost to Fred Wright, Trappelo, Mass.; Bill Taylor, Montreal, member of the Quebec Willingdon Cup team, who lost to Bob Morrison, Victoria; Lionel Morrison, of the Alberta cup team, who lost to Leo Ryan, Toronto; Hugh Jacques, former Quebec champion, who lost to Alex Weir, Winnipeg, and Stewart Vickers, former Alberta titleholder, who lost to J. A. Fuller, Montreal.

When the golfers ended the second round, tomorrow morning, there will be fifty-two Canadians, eleven Americans and one South American. The South American is H. D. Jukes, of Cartagena, Colombia, who drew a bye today.

Of the sixty-four players who started in the morning, thirty-two will survive the third round, in the afternoon.

Campbell, with the usual champion's gallery in his wake, gave a scare on the early holes by missing a putt on the tenth, but still able to skate well enough to make the hole on the eleventh, after rounding the turn with a hole advantage. Odie topped his drive at the tenth and lost five straight holes, leaving Campbell dormie four. They halved the fifteenth, Odie losing 4 and 3.

CAMPBELL IN LEAD

The pace was hot for the first few holes. Campbell was square on the fourth, but Campbell went into the lead at the fifth, when Cleghorn, dubbed a drive. The golfer-hockeyist's five was good enough to win the sixth and square the match.

DEANS GIVEN SUSPENSIONS

Famous Pitching Duo Refuse to Pay Fines Ordered by Manager Frisch

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 14 (AP).—The pitching Deans, Dizzy and Paul, of St. Louis baseball team, were indefinitely suspended today, by Manager Frankie Frisch, of the Cardinals.

Refusal of Dizzy and Paul to accept "gracefully" fines of $100 and $50, respectively, for their failure to accompany the club to Detroit for an exhibition game, yesterday, resulted in their suspension.

Dizzy, who acted as spokesman for the brothers, said they would go on a fishing trip to Florida. "If we have enough money coming after they take those fines out of our pay."

"Of course," he added, "it's possible they will remit the fines quickly when they find out how badly they need us."

Dizzy and Paul, who between them have won thirty-three games this season while losing only eleven, approached Frisch this afternoon and demanded: "Are we suspended?"

Frisch told Dizzy he had been fined $100 and Paul $50 for missing the Detroit trip, and ordered the brothers to go on the field. They said they would "in a few minutes," and Frisch, interpreting this to mean they were not going to accept the fines gracefully, told them they were suspended indefinitely. Dizzy then tore up his uniform and that of another player.

FOOTBALL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Equilibrium Football Club will be held in the clubrooms, Equilibrium and Dominion Roads, tomorrow evening, at 8 o'clock. All last year's players and any others interested are invited to attend.

OPENS SCORE

Twice during the first fifteen

winger, came in on solo rushes that looked like certain goals only to direct his shots past the post.

There was an element of luck, however, in the play that brought the Northers their first tally. Byars shot from twenty yards out and the ball cannoned off Payne's foot into the net.

Verdun turned on the power just before half-time in a vain effort to equalize. Castonguay, diminutive

Verdun left-winger, darted away on several plays only to find himself checked by a stubborn defence.

Lerry Fitzpatrick managed to elude

the Reds' defence just before halftime, but Milne came out to pick the ball off his toe.

In the second half, with Castonguay leading the way, the Eastern

Champions staged a determined assault on the red shirts' goal area, but each attempt failed to mark

Castonguay sent over a beastly and later deflected a stinging drive from C. Fitzpatrick.

FINAL TALLY

With five minutes to play, Reds added their second counter. Barrie sent in a long shot which McLean flashed out, but before the Verdun goalie could recover, Rodgers snapped the ball up and drove it into the net.

The line-ups follow:
Prince Albert City Reds—Milne, goal; Brady Gillespie, Lucas, backs; Boyd, Proudfoot, Dudar, halves; McInerney, Rodgers, Davies, Byars, Barrie, forwards.
Verdun Park—McLean, goal; Payne, McNary, backs; McKenzie, Hollingshaw, Lone, halves, C. Fitzpatrick, Bennett, L. Fitzpatrick, Quinn, Castonguay, forwards.

The Paradox of the Cent-A penny is one-twelfth of an English shilling and equals two cents in American money. Thus the United States cent is worth only half a penny, but weighing 48 grains, equals two pennies in weight.

The Big Yellow Man of Danville—By shouting so loudly that his voice was heard for eight miles around, and in three states at the same time, Lee Christman, thirty-two-year-old Kentucky farmer of Danville, set what is probably a world record.

In the quiet and stillness of the early morning in the mountains that mark the junctions of Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia, Christman—an auctioneer by profession—climbed to the top of the pinnacle of Cummins Gap at 3 a.m., August 1, 1933, and then yelled as loudly as he could. Listeners stationed as judges in each of the three states, whose sworn statements are in my files, said they heard Christman's voice echo through the hills and valleys for eight miles around.

TIGERS CAPTURE TWIN BILL FROM THE YANKEES

Detroit Stretches Lead in Flag Race By Double Triumph

Mickey Cochrane's Squad Takes Opening Games of Crucial Series From New York Before 80,000 Fans—Pirates Turn Back Giants, While Braves Tounce Cubs—Cards Win

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The furious rush of the rampant Detroit Tigers—baseball's newest "Team of Destiny"—carried them to two sensational victories over New York Yankees today, extended their winning streak to fourteen consecutive games, and propelled them toward their first American League pennant in a quarter of a century.

Rising to extraordinary heights before one of the greatest crowds in the history of baseball, Mickey Cochrane's spectacular crew routed the great Lefty Gomez to score a 9-5 triumph in the first game, and then pounded the Yankee right-hander, Red Ruffing, to capture the second game, 7-3, as Lynnwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, youthful Tiger pitching king, registered his thirteenth consecutive victory.

Close to 80,000 spectators jammed the Yankee Stadium to see the Tigers thrash the remnants of New York's once supreme "Murderer's Row" and stretch their lead in the American League pennant race to six and one-half games.

Tigers won so impressively from their main rivals, an outfit that has won seven championships, that they are now prohibitive favorites to continue their dash pennantward, riding the crest of the greatest league winning streak since 1916. They have three more games to play with the Yankees.

The Yankees were overpowered in both games by the Tiger attack. Gomez was given a five-run lead in the first three innings of the opening game, but he blew up after holding Detroit to one hit in five innings and was knocked out of the box by a five-run assault in the sixth.

SMASHES HOMER
Charley Gehring, second sacker of the Tigers, started Gomez down fall with a home run. This clout into the right field stands, combined with hits by Fox, Goslin, Rogell, Owen and Hayworth, ended the celebrated southpaw's day.

Jimmy Doherty, a right-hander, Tigers batted completely around in both the sixth and seventh innings. Two more Yankee pitchers, Allen and Van Atta, were called into action before the outburst was controlled.

Baltzger's home run in the first inning and a four-hit attack in the third, accounting for three runs, represented the Yankees' only productive efforts.

Rowe held the Yankees to four hits in the nightcap, but one of these was Lou Gehrig's thirty-seventh home run. It tied the score at three-all, and once more the Yankees were revived, but Ruffing was pounded hard in each of the last two innings as the Tigers rolled up their winning margin.

Gehring's second home run of the day, with White on base, sent the Tigers off in front in the first inning, and the second baseman drove in four runs altogether as he collected three of the twelve hits of Ruffing.

New Jersey Boy Scores Ace at Banff Springs

BANFF, Aug. 14.—A fifteen-year-old New Jersey boy scored the first hole-in-one ever made by a male golfer on the Banff Springs Hotel golf course here today. The youngster is John Piser, Jr., of Llewellyn Park, West Orange, N.J., who is summering at this hotel with his parents. The lucky drop was made into the sixth hole. Setting his ball on a high tee, young John used a brassie and drove the ball in a perfect arc over the 178 yards so that it dropped cleanly into the hole before the pin could be lifted out. R. R. Coyle, manager of the Banff Springs Hotel, today awarded the boy the Hole-in-One Trophy which has been awaiting a winner for the past four years.

In winning the title the local tribe had to defeat the Nooksack tribe of Washington, two-time champions, and the Marmad crew of the Burrard Indians of North Vancouver, B.C. Staged annually by the American Legion, the event attracts thousands of spectators each year.

WALKER NO OPPOSITION FOR CORBETT

Once Contender for Heavy Crown Badly Trimmed by Fresno Fighter

SEALS STADIUM, SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 14 (AP).—Ancient Mickey Walker, only a shell of the great ring warrior who once held the welterweight and middleweight championships, took a ten-round trouncing from Young Corbett, of Fresno, tonight, in a fight he had hoped would signalize his victorious return as a 160-pounder.

For eight of the rounds the sturdy thirty-three-year-old one-time Rumsion Bulldog was on the receiving end of sharp smashes to the face and body, dealt out by a speedy left-hander, who, himself, last year, was shown of the welterweight crown.

Walker, the man who jumped from middleweight title status to fight such heavyweights as Jack Sharkey, Max Schmeling and other heavies, could not untrack himself tonight. The spirit was willing, but the flesh was weak. Walker knew what he should do but was unable to carry out the ring warfare that has taken him through fourteen years of campaigning.

SHOWS FLASHES
Only in the seventh and ninth rounds did Walker show flashes of his old-time form. He cut loose with a couple of flurries to land tough punches in Corbett's body and claim an even break in the seventh session. In the ninth he was credited with a knockdown, although Young Corbett was not hurt and regained his feet before a count could be started. It was only a light right to the jaw and Corbett, going back with the punch, partly tripped on his own heels and fell flat on his back. The Freeman nearly everted up the round thereafter with a two-fisted attack.

RECEIPTS
Gate receipts were estimated at around $25,000, somewhat short of what was expected.

The Whittman holidays arrived, and the old man in the ring, who had been staring at the bottle in the hand of a convivial fellow-passenger, "I am seventy years of age," he said, "and I have never tasted a drop of whiskey!"

"Dinner worry yerself," returned the other. "You're no' gaun to start now."

Betty Nuthall Is Victim of Major Upset in American Meet at Forest Hills

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Aug. 14 (AP).—The invading threat to Helen Jacobs' reign as women's tennis champion of the United States lost most of its power, today, when Betty Nuthall, the bounding Briton, and top-seeded foreign star, was toppled in a second round upset by Baroness Maude Levi, of Minden, Nev.

While all of the seeded players gained the third round of the forty-seventh annual tournament, Miss Nuthall played somewhat feebly as she bowed to the Baroness in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4.

After a somewhat shaky start in the first set, Miss Jacobs lifted her game to championship heights to eliminate Jane Sharp, of Pasadena, Calif., 6-4, 6-1.

Miss Nuthall went down to defeat after her compatriots, Katherine Stammers and Freda James, and Elizabeth Ryan, were extended to three sets each to win.

Miss Stammers, a good-looking southpaw, outlasted and outdid Miss Nuthall in a three-set battle, of Dedham, Mass., who was ranked nationally at No. 2 in 1930, 1-6, 6-4, 11-9.

Miss Ryan defeated Norma Taulbut, of New York, 6-4, 6-8, 6-1, and Miss James eliminated Mrs. John Van Ryn, of East Orange, N.J., 6-2, 6-8, 6-1, after the New Jersey player tired fast following the second set.

Endeavour Will Go Into Water
BRISTOL, R.I., Aug. 14 (AP).—T. O. M. Endeavour, yacht, Endeavour, British challenger for the America's Cup, which has been undergoing painting and overhauling at the Herreshoff Shipyard, will be hauled back into the water late tonight and leaves for Newport tomorrow morning. Carl W. Haffenreffer, manager of the shipyard, announced today.

The Willows race meeting is scheduled to get under way on Saturday, September 8, for a period of fourteen days during which the sport is expected to reach a high plane. Doubtless it will attract the best of the thoroughbreds who have been racing on the Mainland this season. As Vancouver and Longacres, in Washington, will have finished their racing for the season there will be no opposition meeting in progress, and it is fully expected that the spacious stables at the Willows will be filled to capacity.

In recent years the track has been entirely reconstructed and enlarged from a short half-mile track to one of five-eighths with chutes, also a modern grandstand has been constructed. Racing has always been a grandstand attraction to the exhibition, without which, no matter what other attractions are provided, the exhibition would show a falling off in attendance and gate money.

The new grandstand, through the stables at the back of the grandstand will be found to be much more convenient for motorists as it will enable them to drive in on the parking space provided and make their exit the same way thus obtaining driving through the pedestrians making their exit through the main gates.

The Willows race course, situated in the exhibition grounds, is the oldest race course in British Columbia and was the scene of the memorable sixty-one days' race meeting in 1909. It is a very popular race meeting and, granted fine weather, this year's meeting should surpass those of recent years.

During the two weeks' meeting last year $257,000 was wagered, but this figure should be exceeded this year as there is a little more loose cash around. Before the Hastings Park meeting closes on September 5, however, will be arriving by every boat from Vancouver, but it is difficult to determine the number that will come here. It is certain, however, that some of the best of the handicap division will be seen in action during the fourteen days' racing at the local track. As usual two races per day will be provided for Western Canadian foaled horses and many distance races, which the fans seem to enjoy better than the shorter races, as records show that the wagering is always more spirited on the longer races.

If one stops to compare the surroundings at the Willows now with those of a few years ago it will show

Vacs Win Over Arrows, 4 and 3
VANCOUVER, Aug. 14 (CP).—Brilliant relief hurling by Joe Daley, star Vac right-hander, who went to the rescue of melmer in the eighth inning, saved the redcaps a 4-3 decision over Arrows in a senior baseball game here, tonight.

The victory moved the Vacs into second place in the standings ahead of Arrows.

Vacs scored one run in the first inning on three errors, but Arrows tied it up in their half of the session on a single and double.

Bonds Gain and Stocks Drop at New York Mart

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (AP).—Speculative ardor for stocks and commodities cooled off further today as markets revised their ideas of inflation prospects in the United States.

One of the broadest rallies in bond prices in months gave emphasis to the shift in sentiment away from inflation and toward a more conservative appraisal of Washington's monetary policies. Transfers totaled $31,000 shares.

The chief impetus for the day's movement in financial markets apparently came from an announcement that arrangement had been made for export of a moderate amount of gold from New York as a result of the decline in the dollar the past few days. Assurance from Treasury quarters that additional silver currency would be issued only on the basis of the cost of the metal also was interpreted as favorable to the "sound money" forces.

The stock market settled a little lower as it reverted to extreme dullness after its advance yesterday. Selling in metal and other inflation favorites had an unsettling effect upon the general market, but net changes on the average were small.

The bond market advanced over a broad front today. Recently depressed carrier and utility issues all but wiped out the losses of the past three sessions. Transfers approximated $18,988,000 par value.

Corporate issues in the bond section made the best gains, including Canadian Pacific.

The foreign section was extremely quiet. French 7½ gained 2-18 at 188-1-2, and German 5-1-2 was slightly higher.

Virginia Vane Says:

THE WOMAN OF SPIRIT—AND THE DECEIVING HUSBAND
Two letters in the mail bag today—both from deceived wives, crying aloud for vengeance and for sympathy and help. No, their husbands aren't hardened sinners. Both are repenting bitterly of their indiscretions. Both seem to be willing to stick to the straight and narrow path from now on.

But the deceived wives aren't satisfied. It's not that their love has been cruelly wounded. It's not even that they have suffered real agonies of jealousy. It's simply that somehow or other they feel they must get even. The simple act of forgiveness becomes impossible to them until an eye has been extracted for an eye and a tooth for a tooth.

What's the matter with all you women who shut your eyes to a chance of happiness and peace—who clamor for the kind of revenge which fills your lives with bitterness?

Mrs. A. is suddenly made aware of the fact that her dear, kind, muddling old husband has been switched by a designing young charmer with no scruples or morals. Mrs. A. takes steps. She disentangles her legs from the unsavory mess he's got himself into.

She finds that he has been a victim rather than a villain. She discovers perhaps that he's been lonely, or discouraged, or merely vaguely discontented with the rather humdrum turn life has taken lately. She finds that he is bewildered and rather frightened about his little romance.

Thus she discovers, also, that she has her dear, kind husband back, just as he was before—that his love for her is no dimmer—that his brief excursion in philandering has not taken away any of his real devotion to her.

There is the open door to a new happiness staring her in the face. A truly repentant husband is apt to find a new love and tenderness for his wife—a new understanding and appreciation of her.

Wifely forgiveness and sympathy could bring about a second honeymoon—often does.

But Mrs. A. resolutely turns her back on the possibility of peace. She knows that her husband loves her. She is aware that his penitence is genuine. She can see that he is desperately in need of her love and understanding. But she has a duty to perform—to herself.

She must make it plain not only to her husband but to the little world around them that she is an angry and injured woman. She must prove to the neighbors that she is a woman of spirit and pride. She must punish the offending husband in order that no one anywhere in her immediate vicinity will ever dare to say: "That poor, easy-going Mrs. A.!" She'll put up with anything.

So grimly and methodically she goes to work. She is jocular about her husband's little affair. She is ingenious to an extreme in devising ways of reminding the reformed sinner of his slip from grace. She is particularly sarcastic and withering about him when her dearest friends are present.

She is out to prove—and she does it very well indeed—that she stands for no nonsense. Her husband must eat the dust for a long, long time before there will be any talk of reconciliation. She's a woman of character and no mere man can make a fool of her.

In the end she gets what she wants. The neighbors are convinced that she is making her man pay for his crime. They shake their heads admiringly. They say: "Alice is the limit. She's making Tom toe the chalk-line and no mistake. I guess he'll never try to step out again."

And all the time the efficient Mrs. A. will be making it impossible for that golden day of reconciliation to become an actual fact. For the penitent and the truly sorry Mr. A. will cease to grovel long before she's let up on her revenge methods. He will long since cease to be humble and grateful. He will acquire a protective covering and a mild cynicism. His tenderness and his remorse will change into an active and growing resentment against his tormentor.

And the second honeymoon will never be achieved. And the door that led to a new happiness will be shut silently in the face of the woman of spirit.

Really, is it worth while to sacrifice your hope of peace and joy for the sake of showing a few neighbors and a few dearest friends just how strong your pride is?

All that audience you're playing up to will have forgotten your little tragedy and the splendid resistance you showed in a few years' time. They will have ceased to admire you for the bitterness of your revenge and the thoroughness of your methods. And you will be left to live out your married years with a man who has had to learn cynicism in order to deal with you.

What about it? Why not learn to forgive, oh, deceived wives, in order that your life's happiness be restored to you?

Married! Children first in this problem! I know that you are young enough to want to grasp your chance of romance. But the romance wouldn't last long while you worried about what was becoming of your babies and while you tortured yourself with doubts and fears concerning their happiness.

You have them as your first big responsibility. You can't break up your home, nor take your husband's children away from him. He hasn't done anything to deserve it.

If circumstances change so that you're able to make some arrangement whereby the children could be brought up happily and comfortably in two homes, then you may consider the big change.

But for the present, try to believe me when I say that unless you stick by the ship and care for your youngsters, there will be no peace or joy for you in any romance.

They own seven mineral claims, on which they have two known veins. One that is exposed for 200 feet, and the one they are working, which appears to be a true fissure vein, carrying free gold, and the ore has given assays of 7.6 ounces and 3.46 ounces of gold to the ton. They are in on the vein some twenty-five feet with a tunnel face and the tunnel is in some nine feet. Stanley Honeychurch, who is in charge of mining operations at the mine, states the vein looks promising. He states, in part, in his report of July 27, 1934, "I am writing what I think is good news. On our second vein, yesterday, we blasted, and after cleaning out the waste rock sacked twenty-two sacks of quartz. We have started today, and by tomorrow will have out two tons of quartz."

One that is exposed for 200 feet, and the one they are working, which appears to be a true fissure vein, carrying free gold, and the ore has given assays of 7.6 ounces and 3.46 ounces of gold to the ton. They are in on the vein some twenty-five feet with a tunnel face and the tunnel is in some nine feet. Stanley Honeychurch, who is in charge of mining operations at the mine, states the vein looks promising. He states, in part, in his report of July 27, 1934, "I am writing what I think is good news. On our second vein, yesterday, we blasted, and after cleaning out the waste rock sacked twenty-two sacks of quartz. We have started today, and by tomorrow will have out two tons of quartz."

PAY VISIT TO NICKEL MINES

Party of Victorians Spend Day at Hope—Shown Over Plant

As the guest of Colonel Victor Spencer, of Vancouver, a party of Victorians, over the week-end, inspected the progress made at the B.C. Nickel Mine, near Hope, B.C. The party found some 150 men working in three shifts on the development of the ore bodies. The main tunnel, ten by eight feet, is now in 3,100 feet and has already cut twenty of the nickel ore lenses. This tunnel gives a depth of 500 feet on these lenses from the surface showings. The work already has indicated a very large tonnage and continuation of development at the present rate will give a very large tonnage in the course of the next four to six months.

CHARTING ORE BODY
How the big nickel ore bodies were charted by means of a magnetometer was explained to the party. The property consists of 160 claims and the ore deposits which occur in the characteristic nickel lenses are being systematically traced and mapped out. The ore is made up of values in nickel, chalcopyrite, which is a copper compound; cobalt, and small values in gold and silver. The nickel varies from 1 to 5 per cent. Engineers estimate that the values outside of the nickel are more than enough to pay for all the costs of mining and marketing, leaving the proceeds from the nickel as clear profit on the operation.

The big company has all financing completed, with big Eastern capital being interested, so it does not have to appeal to the public for funds. As the operation steadily expands it will become a large employer of labor. With the installation of a concentrating plant of a capacity of from 1,000 to 3,000 tons a day, a new permanent town will spring up near the mine.

On their way up the Fraser Valley to Yale, the party stopped at the tobacco plantations near Chilliwack, where they saw various processes from growing to curing. Included in the Victoria party were Comte and Comtesse Jean de Suzannet, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Spencer, Rupert V. D. Guthrie, Jack Nichol, B. C. Nicholas, G. H. Stevens, manager of the Royal Bank; G. A. Campbell, manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia; E. W. McMullen, manager of the Bank of Montreal; F. E. Winslow, manager of the Royal Trust Company; A. D. Macfarlane, K.C.; D. J. Angus, and Henry Heiler. A number from Vancouver joined the party.

Dentonia Boosts Capacity of Mill

The Dentonia mill, at Greenwood, is to be stepped up to 140 tons a day, immediately, on the recommendation of Major Angus Davis, M.E., mine manager, according to authoritative reports. Since milling operations commenced in the Spring the plant has been operating at the rate of 100 tons per day and company officials state that good profits have been earned.

SHIPS GOLD BRICK

Another gold brick from the Osoyoos Gold Quartz Mine was shipped today. Up to the time of going to press the size and value of the brick was not obtainable.

The artist was of the Impressionist school. He had just given the finishing touches to a purple and blue canvas, when his wife entered the room.

"My dear," said he. "I have just completed my landscape, and I should like you to suggest a title for it."

"The good lady took a long look at it, and then murmured: 'Why not call it 'Home'?'"

"But why 'Home'?" asked her husband.

"Because there's no place like it," she meekly replied.

Victoria and Vancouver Business Men View Mines in B.C. Interior

A party of Victoria and Vancouver business men returned yesterday, from the Hedley Camp, where they were given the opportunity of looking over several properties developing there and learning at first hand the latest news of the camp, and their report regarding developments in that area is most interesting. They found the Nickel Plate mine in operation. The large compressor unit in the powerhouse was working to capacity, pumping air for development, and a crew was engaged in renewing foundations and other work looking to the opening up of the mill. It appears undoubted that a large tonnage of new ore has been located and it is hoped that this important mine will become again a large producer at no distant date.

OUTSIDE CAPITAL OBTAINS LEASES

American interests acquire placer claims on Fraser—$8,000 Paid for Kraft Group

One of the largest deals in placer ground made this year was completed this week when the ground known as the Kraft leases, situated four and a half miles up the Fraser River, on the west side, changed hands at a figure in the neighborhood of $8,000. This was made up by a sale of land for $2,500 and a sale of claims for $5,500.

The purchasers are Dr. Large, of California, and Mr. Peers, of Tacoma. Before leaving for the Coast last week they also obtained an option on an adjoining claim. In Vancouver they will get together the necessary machinery to work the ground, and hope to be well under way before the snow flies. They intend using a drag line engine in connection with a specially-constructed flume to recover the gold.

Dr. Large stated that it was his intention, as far as was possible, to employ only local labor and deal with local stores. This will be of great benefit to the district and is an example that may well be followed by others.

HEDLEY GROUP IS INSPECTED

Victoria and Vancouver Business Men View Mines in B.C. Interior

A party of Victoria and Vancouver business men returned yesterday, from the Hedley Camp, where they were given the opportunity of looking over several properties developing there and learning at first hand the latest news of the camp, and their report regarding developments in that area is most interesting.

They found the Nickel Plate mine in operation. The large compressor unit in the powerhouse was working to capacity, pumping air for development, and a crew was engaged in renewing foundations and other work looking to the opening up of the mill. It appears undoubted that a large tonnage of new ore has been located and it is hoped that this important mine will become again a large producer at no distant date.

On the Hedley Masoot, adjoining the Nickel Plate, a sampling crew, in charge of Dr. Victor Dolmage, has been working for the past two weeks, and diamond drilling operations are to be commenced shortly to obtain further information regarding the huge ore bodies which undoubtedly exist on this property. Some of the Nickel Plate ore bodies were worked to the Masoot boundary, and the manager in charge of the Masoot, stated that actual survey showed that the number three Nickel Plate ore body, at the Masoot boundary, is ninety-four feet in thickness.

Some of the party were shown over the property of the Hedley Amalgamated, and were much impressed by the ore bodies being developed there. On the west side of the mountain the main drift on the No. 1 ore body was in approximately 250 feet, and there were prospects for considerable distances to right and to left. All of these workings are in ore. The ore body averages approximately twelve feet in thickness, so that a large tonnage of ore has already been placed in sight. On the east side of the mountain, facing Nickel Plate Mountain, three other beds of ore are disclosed, all apparently of great thickness and good quality.

The following day some of the party looked over the property of the Osoyoos Gold Mining Syndicate, near John Creek, on the southwest side of the Similkameen River.

Here, they were shown a great zone upwards of 1,000 feet in width, lying between two bodies of diorite intrusives. This zone has been opened up in several places, disclosing ore bodies all of great magnitude. The ore is similar in type to that in the Nickel Plate Mine, Hedley Amalgamated, and other properties in that area, being very heavily mineralized, chiefly with arsenopyrite, carrying good values in gold.

The party did not have time to visit all of the numerous openings, but the cuts which they did examine stretched for a length of upwards of 4,000 feet.

Some very attractive samples of high-grade ore were brought down from this property, which is looked upon locally as one of the big things of the camp. Engineers or adjoining properties who have looked at these showings speak very highly of them.

In Hedley, the party met George

Winkler, who has spent the last few weeks past in developing the Masoot Group, not far from the property of the Osoyoos Gold Mining Syndicate. George states that his property already has opened up very well, and that a deal is being concluded with well-known mining interests to put up substantial funds for the further development of this property.

The party did not have time to visit the old Mountain and other properties in the area. They saw ample, however, to satisfy them that the Hedley Camp is developing exceedingly well, and promises to prove one of the most productive gold-bearing areas of the province. The big attraction is that the ore bodies in this district are large, insuring big tonnage and a long productive life from all of the better properties of the district.
